Huge Red Armies Drive Ahead South Of Seoul To Trap Allies

Pats May Reach Front Lines Soon

TORONTO (CP)—The Star says today in a Tokyo dispatch that Canadian troops are "expected to go into action much earlier than anticipated as result of the fall of Seoul and the swift advance of the Chinese Communists."

(Canadians in Korea, last reported training at Miryang, a town about 27 miles northwest of and inland from the south-coast port city of Pusan, are the 2nd Battalion of the Princess Patricia's Canadian Light Infantry.)

The Star says Brig. E. J. Fleury, chief of the Canadian military mission in the Far East, "was flying from Tokyo tonight to visit the battalion."

The men were described by their commander, Lt. Col. J. M. (Big Jim) Stone of Salmon Arm, B.C., as "ready to fight," the Star says.

20 Craters On Etna Pour Lava

CATANIA, Sicily (AP)—Europe's tallest volcano today went into its 40th day of violent eruption amid increasing fears worse may be yet to come.

The government of Catania, 20 miles south of the half-mile wide lava, stream spouting from the snow-capped eastern slopes of Mount Etna, said in a special announcement:

"Serious concern has begun to be felt because of the continued violence of the eruption."

In its first month the lava outpour followed to within yards of the villages of Milo and Fornazzo, which were evacuated of their 2,000 inhabitants and stripped of everything movable.

There was a lull and the villages were spared. But almost immediately a terrific new outburst sent lava pouring out of 10 or 20 active craters at a rate of 25 miles an hour at the crater mouths. That rate slows to 50 to 100 feet an hour at lava-heads, thousands of yards down the mountain.

Two Fishermen Missing

HALIFAX, (CP)—A fishing dory with two men aboard is missing about 25 miles of Canso, N.S., R.C.A.F. search and rescue reported today.

U.N. Forces Protecting Inchon Withdraw As Navy Guns Shell Foe

BULLETIN

INCHON (AP)—United Nations forces protecting this supply port west of Seoul withdrew by sea tonight while naval guns shelled the path of the approaching Reds.

TOKYO (AP)—Gen. MacArthur said today four and possibly seven Chinese armies (corps) numbering about 120,000 men, plus two North Korean Communist corps, are driving toward Wonju, 55 miles southeast of abandoned Seoul.

Wonju's capture, Gen. MacArthur said, would place the Reds in a position to trap Allied forces in the west and north. It also would menace the main route to Pusan, old beachhead supply port in southeast Korea. Allied forces west of Seoul could be forced out of Korea at Inchon. A fleet is ready for such an emergency.

It would be a difficult operation, and it would be the second for U.N. forces within 30 days. Removal of more than 200,000 troops and civilians from the east coast of Hungnam was completed Christmas Eve. They were taken to Pusan. Warships today pounded the Reds rushing down the west coast toward Inchon.

It was from an amphibious landing at Inchon that the Allies crushed most of the North Korean Red army in a vise last September. Seoul was retaken from the Communists then and the Korean war seemed in its final phases.

But the sheer weight of shrieking and seemingly endless Chinese Red manpower forced Allied troops to quit the ancient, devastated South Korean capital today.

DYNAMITE BRIDGES

They blew the last bridges over the frozen Han River at noon. Nearby Kimpo airfield was abandoned after its installations had gone up in an awesome tower of smoke and flame.

A United Nations fleet, including Canadian units, stood off the west coast ready to evacuate U.N. forces south and west of Seoul.

Only a frightened fragment of Seoul's normally 1,500,000 population remained.

One-Legged Man Saves Three As Fire Rages

MANCHESTER, Eng. (AP)—A one-legged man saved his wife and two children from burning to death today by catching them as they dropped from a second floor window of their blazing home.

He was Joseph E. Rushton, 41, who gets around on a peg leg and crutches.

Rushton was awakened by the crackling of flames. He crept into the basement and turned off the gas.

Then he stood outside the bedroom, braced himself on his crutches, and deftly fished his children—Christine, two, and Irene, three—as his wife dropped them out a window.

Finally he caught his wife and

Claxton Warns Canada Its Forces Undermanned

OTTAWA (BUP)—Defence Minister Brooke Claxton today had warned that the nation's armed forces are undermanned and warned young Canadians that "the time has come" for widespread voluntary recruiting.

Claxton's plea for reserve or active force personnel for the navy, army and air force was contained in a year-end review of the nation's defences.

He said that neither the navy, army nor air force had enough men to fill jobs opened up in an extended defence effort that will see the navy double its operational activities this year and possibly turn Canada into a vast training ground for allied fliers.

"The time has come," he said, "when every young man must consider if it is not his duty to serve his country by joining either the reserve or the active armed forces."

Claxton made no mention of the possibility of conscription if recruiting targets were not reached.

He emphasized, however, that "we still need more men, particularly in the reserve," and coupled his bid for military manpower with a reminder that all three services had recently been given pay increases and improved living conditions.

The fire raged out of control for four hours before more than 200 firemen from several Illinois and Indiana cities got the upper hand.

Liverpool Gripped By 'Flu Epidemic'

LIVERPOOL, Eng. (AP)—An epidemic of influenza disrupted Liverpool shipping today, bringing on harbor conditions that haven't been seen here since war-time convoys flocked into port.

An estimated 30 per cent of Liverpool's working people—including 3,000 dockers—were in bed with the 'flu.

The harbor was jammed with ships waiting for berths. About 1,000 nurses were away from their jobs. Hospital authorities appealed for retired nurses to come back temporarily. Nearly 800 bus drivers and conductors and 25 to 30 per cent of telephone operators were ill.

Meanwhile, in London the ministry of health said epidemics of 'flu so far are confined to the Lancashire area around Liverpool, and to the northeast coast. It noted the ailment is spreading through the Midlands and southern England but has not reached epidemic proportions there.

The ministry said the epidemic cases are mild ones.

Police escorted him to the far side of the road. He told them he was a law student and was referring to the South African policy of racial segregation.

The young man referred to Prime Minister Daniel Malan of South Africa. The ailing Malan is represented at the talks by Interior Minister Theophilus Dones.

First H-Bomb May Be Exploded By U.S. At Eniwetok This Spring

By HOWARD W. BLAKESLEE

NEW YORK (AP)—Hydrogen bombs are considered possible by science writer William L. Laurence—in fact, he tells a new way by which they may be made successfully. He does not say success is certain.

And Laurence forecasts, as speculative, one type of atomic explosion that might kill every one on earth in a single flash. Laurence, a New York Times science reporter, gives his ideas in a book, "The Hell Bomb," published today. He was the only reporter invited to pass military secrecy barriers and see everything in the making of atom bombs.

NEW DEVICE

Laurence comes up with a new device to insure the possibility of an H-bomb explosion. This is a booster, a mixture of the two forms of heavy hydrogen, deuterium and tritium. There are three kinds of hydrogen, the ordinary or lightweight, the doubleweight known as deuterium, and tripleweight known as tritium.

An H-bomb is made by surrounding an ordinary A-bomb with one or more of these three forms of hydrogen, liquefied at 420 degrees Fahrenheit below zero. There is only a few millionths of a second for the atom bomb to detonate the hydrogen, before the A-bomb blast blows the hydrogen so far away that it cannot be exploded.

Laurence shows that ordinary hydrogen heats up far too slowly to be used. Deuterium alone also is too slow. Tritium is fast enough to explode, but Laurence says it is too expensive to be practical.

But a small amount—a few hundred grams—of tritium mixed with deuterium heats faster than any form of hydrogen alone. Possibly, he says, fast enough for this booster to be added to a deuterium bomb and made to explode.

Laurence says the H-bomb will be a real weapon against armies in the field or on the march because one H-bomb's explosion will nearly totally destroy by blast everything within more than 300 square miles, and will burn or start fires over an area of more than 1,200 square miles. This, he says, will really stop or impede marching military forces.

It is within the realm of possibility, says Laurence, that an H-bomb may be tried at Eniwetok this spring or summer. This first bomb will not be a thousand times more powerful than an A-bomb. The size will not matter, for if a small H-bomb can be made, a big one can too.

Among the bombs of the future, which will depend on discoveries not yet made, Laurence lists a positron explosion. Positrons are positively charged electrons. They appear in nuclear reactions and last only millionths of seconds. They sometimes unite with a negative—or ordinary—electron. Then both are annihilated and change into a flash of gamma rays, which are pure radioactivity of the most dangerous kind.

A discovery that would release positrons in large numbers, Laurence writes, "would open possibilities of horror alongside which those of the H-bomb would be puny."

This possibility "may envelop the earth in one deadly flash of radioactive lightning that would instantly kill all sensate things."

President Voices Hope World Can Avoid War

BULLETIN

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Truman said today the United States is not considering asking the United Nations for permission to bomb Communist China.

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Truman said today that United States forces will not bomb China without United Nations sanction.

He made this clear at a press conference in which he again expressed hope that a third world war can be avoided this year.

He also said, in response to questions as to what point would have to be reached before he would have to consult Congress on a declaration of war, that if the proper time arrived, the proper action would be taken.

He hopes the time will never come when he would have to ask for a declaration of war, he said, adding that the time has not come yet.

He said the action in Korea is proceeding under the direction of the United Nations and the United States is always willing to negotiate.

But, as to the Russian reply to a proposal for a Big Four foreign ministers' conference, he said he would stand by State Secretary Dean Acheson's statement Wednesday.

Acheson said that further clarification is needed as to what the Russians are proposing. He said the Russian note appears only to restate the Soviet position that the ministers should meet to discuss German questions.

Truman emphasized that the United States is not formally at war, and he added the U.S. is carrying out its obligations to the United Nations.

At the Pentagon today, Defence Secretary George C. Marshall said the situation in Korea is developing "almost exactly as anticipated and that U.N. forces have been deployed to meet this anticipation."

Marshall also said that the U.N. force in Korea had in many instances been fighting against "almost incredible" manpower superiority of the Communists.

Indian In London Shouts Against Malan

LONDON (Reuter)—When Prime Minister Nehru of India drove up to 10 Downing Street today to attend the Commonwealth Conference, a young Indian, standing on the edge of a cluster of photographers, shouted twice: "Malan and his Fascists are inside."

Police escorted him to the far side of the road. He told them he was a law student and was referring to the South African policy of racial segregation.

The young man referred to Prime Minister Daniel Malan of South Africa. The ailing Malan is represented at the talks by Interior Minister Theophilus Dones.

Victoria Armory Guarded

Precautions have been taken at Bay Street Armories to guard against possible theft or sabotage, Lt. Col. W. J. Farnsworth, officer in charge of the armories, said today.

These extra precautions "have been in effect for some time and the situation 'is in hand,'" he added.

Recent announcements have told of thefts of equipment and sabotage in armories in eastern Canada.

With seven Reserve Army units having headquarters at the armories here, it can be safely assumed that valuable training and field equipment is stored in the building.

Protection of this equipment and other facilities and records has been considered in the defence plan.

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Truman said today that United States forces will not bomb China without United Nations sanction, and is not considering asking the U.N. for such permission.

Rangers Help
R.C.M.P. Search

Search was continuing today in the Duncan area for 73-year-old Thomas France of the Sunset Resthaven Home, who has been missing since Wednesday morning.

R.C.M.P. called the South Vancouver Island Rangers' emergency search service for assistance in the search at 5:30 last night.

The Rangers "flying squad"—the bloodhound and handlers, ambulance and radio car—made a quick trip to Duncan and searched the snow-covered countryside without results.

Rangers resumed the hunt at daybreak. Up to press time France had not been located.

Blast Starts Peru Slide; 102 Lose Lives

LIMA, Peru (AP)—A total of 102 persons today were reported killed in a dynamite-started Andes Mountain avalanche near the coastal town of Chimbote.

Confirmed reports said the bodies of 80 persons had been recovered from the tomb of rocks and mud on Condor Hill, with 71 persons known injured.

The correspondent of the newspaper El Comercio said later the death toll had reached 102.

Disaster crews still were digging for 40 persons listed as missing.

Chimbote is about 250 miles north of Lima, the Peruvian capital.

May Suppress Papers

ATHENS (Reuters)—The Greek government in a decree today assumed drastic powers to suppress newspapers "supporting those who hold arms against the motherland and undermine the country's integrity."

Hint Controls Soon

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Truman said today across-the-board price and wage controls will be put on whenever necessary and possibly as soon as it can be done.

LIVING COSTS ADVANCE TO NEW RECORD HEIGHTS

OTTAWA (CP)—Living costs in Canada rose slightly in November, pushing the official cost-of-living index up 0.4 points to an all-time high of 171.1 from 170.7, the Bureau of Statistics reported late today.

All categories of consumer items, with the exception of rents which were not surveyed, participated in the advance, the bureau said. The index is based on 1935-39 prices equaling 100.

Fruit and vegetable prices went up. So did dairy products, footwear, men's and women's wear, piece goods, home furnishings, coke and prices for health and personal and recreation.

These overbalanced declines in meat and eggs.

The rise came after October's halt in the index climb, a climb that has been almost continuous throughout the first nine months of 1950.

CANADIAN FORCES SAID UNDERMANNED

Claxton Advises Youth Of Nation
Time Here For Voluntary Recruiting

OTTAWA (BUP)—Defence Minister Brooke Claxton today had warned that the nation's armed forces are undermanned and warned young Canadians that "the time has come" for widespread voluntary recruiting.

Claxton's plea for reserve or active force personnel for the navy, army and air force was contained in a year-end review of the nation's defences.

NO AIRFIELDS HERE
A high air force officer at No. 12 Group Headquarters, Vancouver, told the Victoria Times today there were no plans for using Patricia Bay or any other island airfields for air force training purposes.

He said the fields to be used would be on the prairies. Weather conditions there, he pointed out, were more suited to flying than weather on the coast.

Canada's Gold Holdings Drop

OTTAWA (CP)—Canada's official holdings of gold and U.S. dollars totaled $1,742,000,000 at Dec. 31, 1950, down $45,000,000 from the Nov. 30 figures, the finance department announced today.

At the end of 1949 the corresponding figure was $1,117,000,000. At Sept. 30, 1950, the gold and U.S. dollars holdings stood at $1,790,000,000 and at Oct. 31, at $1,827,000,000.

All figures are in terms of U.S. dollars.

MARGARET'S ROMANCE OFF

Lord Ogilvy, Her Escort, Becomes Engaged Soon

LONDON (AP)—London buzzed tonight with reports Lord Ogilvy, often seen with Princess Margaret, is soon to become engaged to Lady Pamela Mountbatten, younger daughter of Earl and Countess Mountbatten. That would leave the gangling Earl of Dalkeith, handsome 27-year-old Scots nobleman, practically head and shoulders ahead of the field of young swains.

Production Costs Boost Wine Price

Price increases of 5 and 10 cents a quart on wine went into effect in British Columbia today.

The increase is five cents on reputed quarts and 10 cents on imperial quarts of all Canadian wines.

Liquor Commissioner W. F. Kennedy said the increase is the result of increases charged by the wineries due to higher production costs.

Deputy Dies Suddenly

OTTAWA (CP)—Lt. Col. J. D. Macbeth, executive assistant to Veterans' Minister Huges LaPointe, died suddenly early today at his home at nearby Hazeldean, Ont. He was 47.

Guard Against Sabotage At Armories Here

Situation In Hand
Says Army Officer

Precautions have been taken at Bay Street Armory to guard against possible theft or sabotage, Lt. Col. W. J. Farnsworth, officer in charge of the armory, said today.

These extra precautions have been in effect for some time and the situation "is in hand," he added.

B.C. Mineral Production Up $4 Million

A preliminary estimate places B.C. mineral production in 1950 at $137,500,000 compared to $133,012,968 in 1949.

Estimate was made by the mining statistician of the Provincial Bureau of Economics and Statistics.

Estimated values for the major items of mineral production are as follows, with the 1949 figure in brackets: Gold, placer, $500,000 ($529,524); gold, lode, $10,600,000 ($10,382,256); silver, $6,900,000 ($5,669,769); copper, $10,200,000 ($10,956,550); lead, $38,000,000 ($41,645,726); zinc, $45,000,000 ($36,604,700); coal $10,500,000 ($12,462,424); structural materials, $10,600,000 ($9,955,890); miscellaneous metals, minerals and materials, $5,200,000 ($4,806,129).

Average metal prices used in the estimate, with 1949 prices in brackets: Gold, fine ounce $38.04 ($36); silver, fine ounce 80.82 cents, 74.25 cents; copper, pound, 23.42 cents (19.97 cents); lead, pound, 14.45 cents (15.80 cents); zinc, pound, 15.65 cents (13.24 cents).

He has five ferry services in mind which would be replaced by toll bridges if a bridge authority is established.

They include the Kelowna to Westbank Service on Okanagan Lake where the province has $1,000,000 tied up in ferries; the Fraser River; the Woodwards Landing-Ladner service; the service from Nelson across the lower end of Kootenay Lake to the north shore road leading to Kalso; and the Castlegar service on the road from Nelson to Trail across the Columbia River at the lower end of the Arrow Lakes.

In commenting on increased costs in ferry services, Mr. Carson pointed to the Brentwood-Mill Bay subsidy recently requested by Coast Ferries Ltd.

The company has been giving the service in return for $5,000 a year from the government. In bidding on renewal of the contract for another five-year period, the company asked $21,300 a year.

"This is beyond all reason," the minister said. "If the service was essential, it might be different, but this isn't, and we have got to affect some economy."

'Unsinkable' Ship
Going Down Off
Australian Coast

SYDNEY (AP)—One of the "unsinkable" ships of the Second World War today was reported on her way to the bottom off the northeast coast of Australia.

She was the 11,000-ton British freighter Pallana, which had survived German mines and attacks by German and Japanese bombers.

Wednesday night she hit a rock and was badly holed off Pine Peak Island, in the Great Barrier Reef, about 60 miles from the northeast Australian coast. Today her captain, F. R. Spurr, radioed that she had broken loose and was sinking slowly.

Her crew of 69, after taking to lifeboats, was reported aboard the Dutch freighter Singkep.

Government Considers Toll Bridge Authority

The provincial government is considering establishing a bridge commission to eliminate costly subsidized ferry systems by building toll bridges, it was learned today.

Works Minister E. C. Carson is hopeful some definite action may be taken on the question at the coming session of the Legislature.

The commission would have over-all authority to borrow money required in the construction of toll bridges, which would speed traffic as well as relieve the road maintenance grant of large sums.

Ferry subsidies will exceed $850,000 in the current year, and Mr. Carson predicts they will pass $1,000,000 figure next year at the present rate. They are included in the road maintenance budget.

"A bridge commission," said Mr. Carson, "is the only basis upon which we can eliminate the costly ferry services and increase amounts being spent on road upkeep."

REPLACE FIVE SERVICES

He has five ferry services in mind which would be replaced by toll bridges if a bridge authority is established.

They include the Kelowna to Westbank Service on Okanagan Lake where the province has $1,000,000 tied up in ferries; the

Main Body Of 8th Army Pulling Back By Land

TOKYO (AP)—The Allies abandoned Seoul's port of Inchon under cover of naval gunfire tonight, Korea time, as the Chinese Reds, who seized firegutted Seoul, swarmed west and south across the frozen Han River.

Most of the United Nations forces leaving Inchon after thorough demolitions of port facilities were ordnance troops, reported Associated Press correspondent Tom Stone.

The main body of the United States 8th Army was pulling back southward by land, rather than via Inchon.

The last ships, including two tank-landing ships that had to wait for high tide, were scheduled to be out of Inchon before daylight, Stone reported.

Indicating that retirement from the port 22 miles west of Seoul had been planned for some time, Stone noted that the ships had been loaded with war equipment for days.

REFUGEES EVACUATED

As they had done in quitting Hungnam in northeast Korea in December, the allies gave a lift out of Inchon to thousands of Korean civilian refugees.

Held back by the eight-inch guns of the heavy cruiser Rochester, firing inland almost to Seoul's suburbs, Reds were across the Han River in estimated battalion strength. Their swift follow-up of the capture of Seoul required the allied pull-out to avoid a pincers threat on Inchon.

DRIVE ON WONJU

Gen. MacArthur said today four and possibly seven Chinese armies (corps) numbering about 120,000 men, plus two North Korean Communist corps, are driving toward Wonju, 55 miles southeast of abandoned Seoul.

Wonju's capture, Gen. MacArthur said, would place the Reds in a position to trap allied forces in the west and north. It also would menace the main route to Pusan, old beachhead supply port in southeast Korea.

The sheer weight of shrieking and seemingly endless Chinese Red manpower forced Allied troops to quit the ancient, devastated South Korean capital today.

DYNAMITE BRIDGES

They blew the last bridges over the frozen Han River at noon. Nearby Kimpo airfield was abandoned after its installations had gone up in an awesome tower of smoke and flame.

Only a frightened fragment of Seoul's normally 1,500,000 population remained in the ruined city. Among the bewildered civilians unable or unwilling to leave were lost children, wandering aimlessly. Dusty roads to the south were choked with military traffic and a pitiful mass of humanity.

AP Correspondent Stan Swinton reported the order to abandon Seoul and its defences to the north came as a complete surprise to Allied front-line units. They had earlier been told to hold at any cost.

'Cappy' Goodlake Passes At Home

Thomas Julian "Cappy" Goodlake, for 20 years secretary of the Victoria Rotary Club, passed away Wednesday at his home, 600 Foul Bay. He was 73.

Born in Portland, Dorset, Eng., he was educated at Cheltenham College and Corpus Christi College, Oxford.

Funeral services will be held Friday.

THOUSANDS OF CHINESE SLAIN IN RED PURGE

HONGKONG (AP)—A press report said today "thousands" have been executed within the last two months inside Communist China.

Thousands more are reported undergoing mental and physical rigors of newly-formed "re-education" camps.

Reasons for this sudden purge are not entirely clear, but there are at least two obvious possibilities:

1. Growing guerrilla resistance.

2. Preparation for a third world war possibly thought near.

The Communists themselves reported yesterday from Hankow, the capital of Kwangsi Province, that 43,699 "bandits" were eliminated there in November and December.

Blanche Thebom reminded the folks last night that in tennis, love means nothing.

See where Joe Stalin married an aviatrix. If she can get him up in the air she'll be doing a lot better than some of our diplomats.

"Hospital insurance premiums going up." The high cost of getting sick.

ONE WOMAN'S DAY

By NANCY HODGES

BOOKS AND BANS

SINCE THE Iron Curtain descended on the world, shutting out much of it from the ken of the democratic countries, we have grown more or less accustomed to hearing whispers of this, that, or the other being banned because of their alleged taint of capitalistic poison.

Books have long been subject to this particular form of proscription in the Soviet Union and satellite countries, and many readers may recall that, early last year I think it was, the Czech government announced its intention of banning the celebrated Grimm's fairy tales and substituting for them a modernized, Communized version of the lovely old folk stories that originated in that country.

6,800 BOOKS 'OUT'

THE SAME PATTERN of Communist proscription is now being repeated in Hungary where the government, embarked on what it calls a morality campaign, has placed 6,800 books, together with "boogie-woogie" in the "imperialist" catalogue—and therefore banned.

To be frank, I admit that the banning of boogie-woogie would meet with my approval, were it not that, in my opinion, the Four Freedoms, in which I believe so intensely, even provide for the addicts of boogie-woogie and bebop to be free to follow the dictates of their ears and feet.

'LITTLE WOMEN'

BUT WHEN I read that Louisa May Alcott's "Little Women" is among those banned as imperialistic—and presumably detrimental to the morals of Hungarian children—then I feel that the stupidity of the Communist censors of morals and manners has just about reached its height—or depth.

Four generations of English-speaking little girls—and no doubt of those who speak other languages, for little girls were much the same the world over until Stalin took a hand in their indoctrination—have revelled in the pages of this classic and more or less patterned themselves on the modesty and deportment of the young heroines of the Victorian era. To anyone but a Communist the suggestion that there is anything "imperialistic" about this simple, charming tale must be ludicrous in the extreme.

UGLY REWRITES

HOWEVER, it is on a par with the action taken by the Czech government to which I have already alluded. When the Czech authorities decided to remove the taint from Grimm's fairy tales by re-writing them it was done so that such abhorrent people as fairy princes and princesses would vanish in favor of tanks and aircraft, the Five Year Plan could be explained instead of such "tosh" as quests for sleeping beauties, and young readers could get a chance to criticize the capitalistic system.

Never having seen the Communist version, I can only surmise, for instance, that the revised version of "The Wild Swans" might begin: "Far away, where the bombers fly on long-distance reconnaissance, lived a might President of a Supreme Soviet, who had thousands of tanks and untold quantities of atom bombs in his treasure chests..."

STRANGE BACKGROUND

I DON'T KNOW what the government of Hungary has in mind as a substitute for "Little Women," but it will no doubt be along similar grim lines to the Grimm re-writes. What the censors forget is that the backgrounds of the "great Socialist Revolution" against which the new tales are to be told is no less strange and no less crowded with ugly ducklings, turning into swans and young girls dreaming of fairy princes as rescuers than is the far-away world reflected in Grimm and Louisa May Alcott.

What the Communist censors also forget is that children are obstinately conservative in their determination to live in an enchanted world of their own imagination, no matter what their elders may decide. In Hungary, as in Czechoslovakia, they shared in a lovely heritage that will take a magic stronger than the Iron Curtain to shut away from their memories.

Income Tax Staff Worried Over New Classification

Victoria income tax office employees still are wondering what changes will be made here in the government's reorganization of the department across the country.

No word has been received yet on how big a reduction in personnel, if any, will be made, and what new classifications or changes in classification are in store.

It is thought some new jobs will be created as a result of the establishment of Vancouver Island as a separate unit from the mainland in the federal taxation set-up.

Island records will be transferred here from Vancouver and all dealings in income tax matters will be carried out at the Victoria office by Vancouver Island residents.

There is a fear still, though, that a reduction in some offices of the department will be seen, and lower classifications for some employees are expected also.

The reorganization was ordered when the department began catching up with a backlog of work which began piling up after the last war.

Woman Takes Place On Nanaimo Council

NANAIMO—Miss Elsie Hall has been sworn into office as an alderman by Magistrate C. H. Beevor-Potts thus becoming the first woman in history to hold a seat on the City Council.

Others sworn in by the pioneer magistrate, officiating for the 36th year, were Philip J. Piper and Charles Wharton, who were re-elected.

Following the ceremony Mayor Earle C. Westwood was host at an inaugural dinner at the Plaza Hotel.

BEGONIA SOCIETY

Victoria Begonia Society elected Henry E. Hemmons president at the annual meeting held Wednesday night at the Douglas Hotel. Other officers elected were E. G. Rowbottom, deputy minister of trade and industry, honorary president; Col. F. M. Steel, vice-president, and James Tebb, secretary-treasurer.

Property Clause Draws Fire From Local Trades Council

The Victoria and District Trades and Labor Council (T.L.C.) intends to make a determined effort to change property qualifications of candidates seeking election to Victoria's City Council.

The change can only be made through amendment of the province's Municipal Act and the labor group at its meeting Wednesday night decided to press for such amendment at the next sitting of the Legislature, which opens Feb. 20.

The council intends to proceed with the matter by calling upon all organizations in the city to lend support. It is considered a surety the Victoria Labor Council (C.C.L.) and the zone council of the Canadian Legion will provide such backing.

The question of property qualifications of civic candidates came to the fore as a result of the forced resignation last month of alderman-elect Roy Whittle.

Whittle, a C.C.L. union official, received moral backing from labor as a whole in his election campaign.

Get Decoration

Seven Vancouver Island aldermen, including four Victorians, have been awarded the Canadian Forces' Decoration for 12 years' service, permanent or reserve.

They are Wing Cmdr. A. M. Jardine, Sqdn. Ldr. D. V. Thomas, F.O. H. C. Parrott and Sgt. F. Fairhurst, all of Victoria; Sqdn. Ldr. S. R. Radcliff, Chalmers; F.O. P. C. Blon, Ganges, and Sgt. J. J. Szlatter, Nanaimo.

NANAIMO—Lieutenant-Governor Clarence Wallace and Mrs. Wallace will attend the official opening of the new Nanaimo City Hall on Feb. 17, according to word received from Government House by Mayor Earle C. Westwood.

Frigates Head South On 4-Week Training Cruise

Talk Of Trip To Australia Instead Of Mexico For Cruiser Ontario

Off on a four-week training cruise in southern waters today were the Royal Canadian Navy's frigates Beacon Hill and Antigonish.

The ships sailed from their Esquimalt base at noon.

During the voyage, the frigates will carry out exercises, manoeuvres and other training, and will make refueling stops at San Diego, Calif., and Acapulco, Mexico.

They are scheduled to return Jan. 31.

Beacon Hill is commanded by Lt.-Cmdr. R. W. Murdock, Antigonish by Lt.-Cmdr. Raymond Phillips.

AUSTRALIAN RUMOR

Meanwhile, there has been mess-deck talk of a possible training cruise to Australia by the cruiser Ontario.

Usually the cruiser, accompanied by destroyers, carries out a spring training cruise to Mexico.

One report indicated the Ontario, commanded by Commodore

H. F. Pullen, would carry her full quota of ammunition and other arms if she made the long trans-Pacific voyage "down under."

Object Of Council To Hold Tax Level

DUNCAN—Despite an increase in school taxation the City Council will try to keep taxes at their present level, Mayor J. C. Wragg said at the first meeting of the 1951 council.

Chief capital expense this year will be on sidewalks and water mains. Sidewalks have been proposed for Canada Avenue, Jubilee Street and Coronation Hill, and about 1,350 feet of pipe will be laid.

Etna Eruptions Continue As Worst Feared To Come

CATANIA, Sicily (AP)—Europe's tallest volcano today went into its 40th day of violent eruption amid increasing fears worse may be yet to come.

The government of Catania, 20 miles south of the half-mile wide lava stream spouting from the snow-capped eastern slopes of Mount Etna, said in a special announcement:

"Serious concern has begun to be felt because of the continued violence of the eruption. In its first month the lava outpour rolled to within yards of the villages of Milo and Fornazzo, which were evacuated of their 2,000 inhabitants and stripped of everything movable.

'Good For You,' Say Dockers, Handling Load Of Sulphur

Victoria longshoremen today completed unloading an unusual cargo at Ogden Point—400 tons of sulphur.

It was transferred from the British freighter Table Bay—formerly the Canadian ship Lake Shawinigan—to a barge for transshipment to Woodfibre on Howe Sound.

The sulphur, in powder form, was shoveled into huge buckets by the stevedores, and hoisted over the side onto the barge.

For handling it, longshoremen get 10 cents an hour extra. A few wore eye shields, but apparently the sulphur dust was not repugnant, for none had nose or mouth covered.

"GOOD FOR YOU" "This stuff is supposed to be good for you," laughed one stevedore.

The sulphur was loaded at Galveston, Texas.

Also aboard the ship was a quantity of nitrates, loaded at Hopewell, Va.—The Table Bay will take it to the C.I.L. plant at James Island after first going to Port Alberni for lumber and Port Alice to discharge more sulphur.

About 300,000 board feet of lumber were being loaded aboard the ship, which is expected to sail at noon Friday.

1st H-Bomb May Be Set Off In Spring

Reporter Sees Bombs Made; Says One Blast Might Kill All Earth's People

By HOWARD W. BLAKESLEE

NEW YORK (AP)—Hydrogen bombs are considered possible by science writer William L. Laurence—in fact, he tells a new way by which they may be made successfully. He does not say success is certain.

U.N. Delegates Resume Debate On Red China

LAKE SUCCESS (AP)—Prospects for any speedy United Nations action against Communist China beyond a formal condemnation of the Peking regime appeared dim today as U.N. delegates debated future steps in the Korean crisis.

The United States delegation was understood to be canvassing support for a resolution tagging the Chinese Reds as aggressors, abandoning for the time being such stronger measures as U.N. economic and diplomatic boycotts. United States sources called the aggressor tag a necessary prerequisite to stiffer measures. They acknowledged, however, that any campaign for stronger action will make slow progress.

The political committee stood adjourned today for 48 hours to give its three-man cease-fire group time to prepare a set of principles that should govern any overall settlement in Korea should the fighting be halted.

The committee, of which Canada's L. B. Pearson is a member, formally acknowledged Wednesday that its efforts to obtain a cease-fire had failed, but at the suggestion of British delegate Sir Gladwyn Jebb the group was asked to write a set of "principles" anyway.

Some delegates said the Chinese Reds certainly would reject any "principles" that were not based on their often-voiced demands—withdrawal of U.N. troops from Korea and U.S. forces from Formosa, and a U.N. seat for China.

One-Legged Man Saves Three As Fire Rages

MANCHESTER, Eng. (AP)—A one-legged man saved his wife and two children from burning to death today by catching them as they dropped from a second floor window of their blazing home.

He was Joseph E. Rushton, 41, who gets around on a peg leg and crutches.

Rushton was awakened by the crackling of flames. He crept into the basement and turned off the gas.

Then he stood outside the bedroom braced himself on his crutches, and deftly fished his children—Christine, two, and Irene, three—as his wife dropped them out a window.

Finally he caught his wife and hobbled to turn in a fire alarm.

Indian In London Shouts Against Malan

LONDON (Reuters)—When Prime Minister Nehru of India drove up to 10 Downing Street today to attend the Commonwealth Conference, a young Indian, standing on the edge of a cluster of photographers, shouted twice: "Malan and his Fascists are inside."

Police escorted him to the far side of the road. He told them he was a law student and was referring to the South African policy of racial segregation.

The young man referred to Prime Minister Daniel Malan of South Africa. The ailing Malan is represented at the talks by Interior Minister Theophilus Danges.

Rent Protest Strike In Rome

ROME (AP)—Communist-dominated labor unions staged a brief protest strike in Rome today against government action allowing increases in rents, which have been frozen since the war. Buses and trams were stopped 10 minutes. Other workers quit their jobs for 30 minutes.

And Laurence forecasts, as speculative, one type of atomic explosion that might kill everyone on earth in a single flash. Laurence, a New York Times science reporter, gives his ideas in a book, "The Hell Bomb," published today. He was the only reporter invited to pass military secrecy barriers and see everything in the making of atom bombs.

Laurence comes up with a new device to insure the possibility of an H-bomb explosion. This is a booster, a mixture of the two forms of heavy hydrogen, deuterium and tritium. There are three kinds of hydrogen, the ordinary or lightweight, the doubleweight known as deuterium, and tripleweight known as tritium.

An H-bomb is made by surrounding an ordinary A-bomb with one or more of these three forms of hydrogen, liquefied at 420 degrees Fahrenheit below zero. There is only a few millionths of a second for the atom bomb to detonate the hydrogen, before the A-bomb blast blows the hydrogen so far away that it cannot be exploded.

Laurence shows that ordinary hydrogen heats up far too slowly to be used. Deuterium alone also is too slow. Tritium is fast enough to explode, but Laurence says it is too expensive to be practical.

But a small amount—a few hundred grams—of tritium mixed with deuterium heats faster than any form of hydrogen alone. Possibly, he says, fast enough for this booster to be added to a deuterium bomb and made to explode.

Laurence says the H-bomb will be a real weapon against armies in the field or on the march because one H-bomb's explosion will nearly totally destroy by blast everything within more than 300 square miles, and will burn or start fires over an area of more than 1,200 square miles. This, he says, will really stop or impede marching military forces.

It is within the realm of possibility, says Laurence, that an H-bomb may be tried at Eniwetok this spring or summer. This first bomb will not be a thousand times more powerful than an A-bomb. The size will not matter, for if a small H-bomb can be made, a big one can too.

Among the bombs of the future, which will depend on discoveries not yet made, Laurence lists a positron explosion. Positrons are positively charged electrons. They appear in nuclear reactions and last only millionths of seconds. They sometimes unite with a negative—or ordinary—electron. Then both are annihilated and change into a flash of gamma rays, which are pure radioactivity of the most dangerous kind.

A discovery that would release positrons in large numbers, Laurence writes, "would open possibilities of horror alongside which those of the H-bomb would be puny."

This possibility "may envelop the earth in one deadly flash of radioactive lightning that would instantly kill all sensible things."

$10,000,000 Fire In Indiana

EVANSVILLE, Ind. (AP)—Fire swept by a stiff wind roared through eight buildings in the centre of the business district here early today. Damage is estimated at more than $10,000,000.

Cause of the blaze was not determined.

The fire raged out of control for four hours before more than 200 firemen from several Illinois and Indiana cities got the upper hand.

Liverpool Gripped By 'Flu Epidemic

LIVERPOOL, Eng. (AP)—An epidemic of influenza disrupted Liverpool shipping today, bringing on harbor conditions that haven't been seen here since wartime convoys flooded into port.

An estimated 30 per cent of Liverpool's working people—including 3,000 dockers—were in bed with the 'flu.

The harbor was jammed with ships waiting for berths.

About 1,000 nurses were away from their jobs. Hospital authorities appealed for retired nurses to come back temporarily. Nearly 800 bus drivers and conductors and 25 to 30 per cent of telephone operators were ill.

Meanwhile, in London the ministry of health said epidemics of 'flu so far are confined to the Lancashire area around Liverpool, and to the northeast coast.

It noted the ailment is spreading through the Midlands and southern England but has not reached epidemic proportions there.

The ministry said the epidemic cases are mild ones.

Yugoslavia Communists Condemn Red China Acts

LONDON (AP)—Yugoslavia's Communist Party today condemned Red China's rejection of the United Nations appeal for a cease-fire in Korea.

In a review of the Korean situation, Borba, official voice of the Yugoslav Communist Party, said: "With the crossing of Chinese troops over the 38th parallel in Korea, new complications are taking shape in the international situation. Peking's (Peiping's) refusal to respond to the U.N.'s appeal for a peaceful settlement of the dispute and to stop at the 38th, deserves full condemnation. Far from contributing to peace, the Chinese action only worsens an already-difficult situation in international relations."

Mrs. L. Quail of 538 Spencer St., Medicine Hat, Alta. "I have been suffering from a terrible condition for years. I was tired, rundown and my appetite was poor. This condition caused me to try various things during the past two years that were supposed to help, but nothing seemed to help. After taking Sarnak for a short time, I feel fine, relieved of pain and indigestion. My husband also takes Sarnak and he thinks highly of this medicine. We think other people should learn of this fine remedy."

Mrs. L. F. Wolfe, 270 W. 48th Ave., Vancouver, B. C. "Before taking Sarnak I felt tired, rundown and my appetite was poor. This condition caused me to try various things during the past two years that were supposed to help, but nothing seemed to help. After taking Sarnak for a short time, I feel fine, relieved of pain and indigestion. My husband also takes Sarnak and he thinks highly of this medicine. We think other people should learn of this fine remedy."

Miss Kay Beattie, 3138 East 27th St., Vancouver, B. C. "For twelve years I haven't been able to eat or sleep properly due to nervousness. Nothing I did helped me until I tried Sarnak. Now I eat much better, sleep better and my nerves are more settled. I haven't quite finished my first bottle but believe me, I'm going to continue with Sarnak for a while as I've had such good results so far. A million thanks for this medicine."

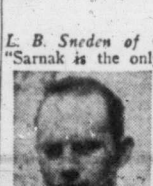

Mr. Clarence Budynski, 56 Cadillac Ave., Victoria, B. C. "Periodically during the past five years, I've suffered with stomach disorders, gas pains and backache. I've tried to get relief but it wasn't till I tried Sarnak that I got the help I wanted. Sarnak brought relief from the first bottle. I think Sarnak is a fine medicine and won't be without it in my home. I hope others will learn of it and that they too will benefit as I have."

Mrs. C. Wallace, Lethbridge, Alta. "I can't praise Sarnak enough for what it has done for me. For years I've suffered with sore back and stomach upsets. Every morning, my stomach acted up and I felt weak all the time. After taking two bottles of Sarnak I got relief from my troubles and now I feel fine thanks to Sarnak. I've told my friends about Sarnak and they too are using it. I can only say the best for this medicine."

L. B. Sneden of Camrose, Alta. "Sarnak is the only medicine that has given me relief. For years I've suffered with severe pain in my hips. At times it was almost impossible to get out of bed. I had been told that no medicine would do me any good but after taking one bottle of Sarnak I am now feeling fine."

Mrs. W. G. Taylor of 521 1/2 Giroux St., St. Boniface, Man. "I appreciate what Sarnak has done for me. For three years my back has been giving me trouble and recently I read about your new medicine and decided to try it. My backache was relieved within two days. I got my husband to start taking Sarnak and he too has benefited. I hope Sarnak helps others as it has helped us."

Mrs. Frances Dawson, Brentwood Bay, B.C. "I am a housewife and for five years I have suffered with a kidney disorder. I have tried in different ways to get relief. After only one bottle of Sarnak, I feel much better and recommend it highly to others suffering from kidney trouble. I am starting my second bottle now and wouldn't want to be without Sarnak for the world. I only have high praise for this medicine."

Political Deep Freeze

WHEN THE ESQUIMALT BY-ELECTION is called, presumably not long hence, the difficulties of managing a coalition Government in British Columbia will come into the open. This by-election, in fact, may be a dry run for the next general election.

Both parties in the coalition claim a vested right in the Esquimalt seat—the Liberals because a Liberal member held it, until his death, in the present House, the Conservatives because they held it for more than a generation previously. Actually the electors of Esquimalt and they alone have any vested right there. They and they alone should decide whether they shall be represented by a Liberal, a Conservative, a C.C.F. member or someone else. It is the essence of our parliamentary system that such matters shall be settled by the local people from below, not by political managers from the top.

That, of course, is the trouble with the so-called Hart Formula. By it the Liberal party is tacitly entitled to nominate the coalition candidate in any seat won by a Liberal in the last election, the Conservatives nominate in the Conservative seats and in the opposition seats both the major parties are entitled to fight for the nomination.

The Hart Formula always was constitutionally unsound since it denied one party or the other (except in the few Opposition seats) the right to function as its local supporters desired. Now, when the Liberals hold almost twice as many seats as the Conservatives, it must simply guarantee the Liberal party a superior position and the Conservatives an inferior. It attempts, in short to freeze an existing situation and virtually guarantee the re-election of sitting members in plain denial of the parliamentary system. The party thus denied any chance of victory can hardly be expected to accept the Formula much longer.

In Esquimalt, presumably, this question must be faced in one constituency as it will be faced in all constituencies in the next general election. But it is not for the Government or the party leaders to decide how it shall be faced. That decision should be made by the people who should be free to nominate for the coalition whom they please.

The best method so far proposed to end the political freeze is the alternative vote by which both major parties would nominate candidates and the voters could make first and second choices. In a three-cornered contest the candidates would represent the general will of the voters and not the private arrangements of party organizations. If the Legislature will institute the alternative vote at the forthcoming session and apply it in Esquimalt the way should be cleared for a free general election about two years hence.

We Can't Take It Easy

MR. LEON KEYSERLING, CHIEF economic adviser to President Truman, says the United States will have to consider an increase in the general hours of work if it is to get the production needed for defence. In other words, America, on a 40-hour week, can hardly hope to catch up to Russia on a 48-hour and, if necessary, a seven-day week.

It doesn't follow, of course, that an indefinite increase in working hours means an indefinite increase in production. There is a breaking point in such calculations after which hourly output falls as workers are overtrained. But two facts are obvious: America cannot afford any further general reduction in working hours if it is to be made defensible; and if production falls below its possible maximum it is the worker who will suffer since he will have less goods than he would have otherwise.

The world struggle will not be won, drastic shortages of goods at home will not be avoided, if we imagine that in these times we can take it easy when the enemy is taking it hard.

A Much Better System

THE NEW SCHOOL ZONE STOP signs will be welcomed by Victoria car, truck and bus drivers and by pedestrians who use the crosswalks. Large and easily read, the signs warn traffic to stop at the crossing when it is occupied between the hours of 8 a.m. and 5 p.m. That is an instruction that appeals to every reasonable driver and can be enforced on the other way.

This is in contrast to the old form of zone warning, which called for a 15 miles per hour speed limit during school attendance hours, irrespective of whether or not any child was in sight of the highway. The natural result of the warning in most cases was to turn even good and conscientious drivers into law-breakers. Having to move along a wide and clear roadway at reduced speed when it is obvious that all children are safely in their classrooms could only lead to contempt for the regulation, however concerned one might be for the preservation of life and limb. This was especially the case where city-bound motorists had to pass through as many as four such zones in one trip.

Now we are getting a sensible system. Let's see that it is scrupulously observed.

Enigma And Mystery To World Commonwealth Grows Stronger

LONDON today is the scene of one of the most inexplicable meetings of our age, and perhaps of any era. Representatives of eight countries have gathered to discuss problems common to them all, yet it is unlikely that any two of them can agree on a precise definition of the political structure of which their respective peoples are a part; no two of them, indeed, can find much common ground on many of the major world issues of the day. Pakistan's Prime Minister, for instance, is absent today because of disagreement over the agenda.

Such is the Commonwealth—a familiar enigma to its constituents, a surprising mystery to outsiders. At the moment, the United Kingdom, Canada, Australia, New Zealand, South Africa, India, Pakistan and Ceylon comprise the membership, with Eire a sort of unofficial associate ex-member. Yet such is the flexibility, and the unpredictability of this "permanent" group, that it is not improbable that next January could see that roster diminished or increased.

BIG QUESTION

The big question is, what holds them together? Why do these countries, with divergent views on many important subjects, with a variety of races, religions and languages not exceeded by any random selection of totally unrelated lands, with frequently competing economic programs, with sociological systems of almost every hue—why do they hang together with a deep strength unknown by any other countries? Not an alliance, not a treaty organization, having no common form of government, common allegiance or common citizenship—what makes them tick?

Prof. K. C. Wheare, lecturer on government and public administration at Oxford University, asks the question and attempts an answer in the current issue of The American Political Science Review. He notes the changed composition of the Commonwealth, successor to the British Commonwealth, that in 1945 had a population of 87 millions, of which only 15 millions were not of British stock. Today, with India and Pakistan having graduated from Imperial status to assume full membership, the Commonwealth population has reached 496 millions—with 427 millions classed as non-British.

Into this sea of figures sinks the old concept that the Commonwealth held together because it was all British. India today does not even recognize the Crown except as a vague symbol of unity. The Commonwealth, as Prof. Wheare points out, is no longer predominantly British in stock, or Christian, or white.

The crux of the whole matter, he says, is that it is a family. Its members may differ in a hundred ways—in looks, in ambitions, in temperament, in methods. But they have the bond of a similarity of outlook on the basic truths of life, a common belief in the necessity for freedom and independence, plus the memory that they have spent much and suffered much in preserving that belief. Like the members of any family, they will fight among themselves, but threats from outside will bring them quickly together.

RENEWED SOLIDARITY

Such a period of danger, Prof. Wheare points out, is now upon the Commonwealth. Although India, for instance, has tried to steer a middle course in the East-West struggle, the looming menace of Soviet Russia has brought renewed solidarity to the group, repeating a process which Hitler in his time also inspired. Where fundamentals are threatened, the inner strength of the association quickly shows through the disagreement on secondary matters. Yet the unity is achieved through individual action; no imperial cabinet, ordering affairs on a majority vote, would be tolerated.

For the rest of the world, the fact of the Commonwealth is more important than the method or the reason. For with all the talk of "one world," the efforts to achieve a truly United Nations organization, and the dreams of the brotherhood of man, the Commonwealth is showing day by day that the ideal is attainable, that unlike can work together harmoniously for good when complete freedom, common ideals and a willingness to co-operate are present. It's paradoxical, it's incredible—but it's true.—B. A. T.

Chips Off The Old Brock

By DAVID BROCK

I HAVE stolen a march on most New Year prophets by holding my fire, if I may mix you up a couple of hasty metaphors. It has become the fashion for predictions to be made in December. I have waited till January. I am thus able to tell you quite a lot that nobody could tell you last week. I have been able to double-check my little prophecies, a thing no prophet should neglect to do. A prophet should also check to see if anyone is holding a stone with in a stonethrow of him, and if so, check to see if the holder is a good shot or a bad one.

STONING the prophets was once a very popular game in Palestine. I believe it was played something like Duck-on-the-rock, only you bounced the stones off the prophet instead of fooling around with inanimate targets. That is to say, the prophet was animate to begin with. After a while he lost interest in the game. In fact, he lost the game. He also lost his power to go bothering people. And the winners were allowed to keep their stones for future use. I have heard, perhaps falsely, that one of the finer points of the game was for the prophet to try to prophesy on some piece of desert sand completely without stones. His opponents, on the other hand, would try to carry stones at all times.

WELL, a game with so many possibilities and so much fun in it could easily become popular again. I know quite a few prophets I'd enjoy arguing with in the robust old rock-hurling manner. And I think I could make up a party any day, if the prophets would stick around, instead of dodging the issue and hedging, as so many unsporting prophets do these days. They won't stay in one place, either physically or intellectually, while you contradict them with half a brick. Physically they keep hopping round and round the trouble spots of Europe and Asia, interviewing the great and the no-good and all that bunch. And mentally they hop round even faster. It makes me dizzy to think of it. How can you throw a stone at what I might call a kind of intellectual dervish? Even with a monstrous blunderbuss crammed with half a ton of crushed rock, you'd miss him.

STILL, many prophets do perch out on a limb for short intervals during periods of hoarseness or something, and then we could put up a little wayside booth beneath them and sell or rent rocks at some price agreeable to all. You hit the clown, you get a cigar. And by gum, you earn it, too. And so does he, only he earns the rock and not the cigar, which is not quite the same thing except to non-smokers, who tell me that half a cigar can kill a well-grown Airedale. They tell me this, being minor prophets in a very small way, in the hopes that they can prophesy that half a cigar will kill me too. But there is a fallacy here: I am not an Airedale. Nor do I eat the cigars, as I believe laboratory Airedales do. I smoke them. It is my Uncle Stanley Brock who eats cigars, not me. He isn't an Airedale, either, though I think he was once an Elk. He was almost everything except an Airedale... he even belonged to a thing called the Royal Birds, which sounds less like fraternal men than a kind of harem.

WELL, if you will just drop those rocks and even pebbles, I will now prophesy, and thereby drop a brick or two myself. First for the weather. In 1951, Burns' Night will be very wet indeed. On the other hand, next Christmas will be far drier, so far as I am concerned. In connection with weather, ladies and gentlemen, I beg to remind you that into every life a little rain must fall, mixed with gigantic hailstones to pound the hell out of you.

This brings us with graceful swoops to the subject of horse-racing or the sport of stings. The Derby will be won by a French horse. What is the matter with these French horses? They must be nervous... they keep running away from everything.

NOT much remains to tell you about 1951. It will be a bad year for treaties; they will keep busting themselves. But they have always had that tendency anyhow.

Stocks will go up and down, up and down, in 1951, making themselves seasick. Pass the Mothersills and the Fathersills. They will go up because there is going to be a war and down because there won't be a war and down because there won't be a war. They are very like women, really. If you know women, you should make a fortune on the stock market. But who does know them? Not the man who says he does.

HISTORY will be made in 1951. But what of it? History's stenographers are unskilled and take it down all wrong, so just throw the stuff away. Anyhow, Paul Valery said history is the most dangerous drug ever invented. I quote from memory, but I hope he said invented, for under the circumstances it is a lovely word.

In 1951 the year will seem different from what it will to your grandchildren. But you won't know that at the time. It will also seem longer at one end than at the other.

In 1951 I resolve not to talk sense. Nothing makes people more angry. It is an affront, and well may they stone you for it. The swine are allowed to throw the pearls back at you, you know, and a lucky shot with even a pearl can cripple a feeble old prophet like me.

WHAT FORCE?

For those of your readers who have by their letters indicated their unacceptance of the facts of evolution, or have termed it absurd; what term could we use to better describe the mental development which has taken place since the Pittdown and Heidelberg men of the Pleistocene Period, 300,000 years ago, chipped the crude stone tools found in scores of parts of earth, to the present mentality, which instead of chipped stone, has produced the modern printing press, the steam and gas engine, the automobile, airplane and atomic bomb?

And to just what force would they ascribe the procedure now, taking the wings off the domestic duck, and which has in the past three million years taken two toes off the horse and left them in the condition of rudimentary or of vestigial remains; now plainly found on every horse's foot?

I wonder if the people of Victoria realize the keen disappointment of many visitors to the Cathedral, who attend services there and are unable to hear the voices of the choir. That the choir is not at fault I know, having heard their very fine rendering of the carols from a favored position. But in many pews in the centre or side aisles their voices are quite lost.

Could not something be done to enable their music to be carried to the ordinary members of the congregation?

Firm Basis For Defence

By WALTER LIPPMANN

THE RECENT speech of Mr. Dulles is, for my taste, the most broadly conceived and the most penetrating which has been made in the United States since the Armistice. On the immediate issues which Mr. Hoover has raised Mr. Dulles has, I think, defined the basic principles of grand strategy which alone permit us to reconcile our great interests and obligations in the world with the dimensions and the character of our military power.

Lippmann

Mr. Dulles defines two principles of American strategy. The one principle is negative, he calls it the fallacy of area defence—the notion that we could or should attempt to finance out of our own resources, and to support with our own troops, the organization of "static defensive forces which could make each nation on a vast frontier of 20,000 miles... impregnable to a major and unpredictable assault by the Red Army of Russia."

RETALIATORY POWER

The other principle is positive. He calls it the deterrent of retaliatory power. It rests ultimately on the long-range striking power of the United States, exploiting the mobility of the sea and air, and based originally upon the North American continent. Properly designed, properly used, it is a capacity to counter-attack against the aggressor. "Then," he says, "the force that protects the one, protects all, and there is a good chance of deterring aggression."

Had Mr. Hoover grasped this second principle—the deterrent of retaliatory power—he would not have advocated, or at least seemed to advocate, the renunciation of American pledges in Europe unless Europe raised armies which he well knew that Europe cannot and will not raise. It was Mr. Hoover's assumption—which the administration in dealing with German rearmament has nothing to correct and much to confirm—that Europe could not be defended at all, unless it was defended by an impregnable "area defence." But for that assumption Mr. Hoover would surely have made a less sensational and a more discriminating speech.

GROUND ARMY TOO

Now it will be said that the deterrent of retaliatory power will not deter enough and that Europe must have a big ground army as well. That in the end may well be true. But now in the beginning, in these perilous times in which we live, and for some years to come, it will be necessary to defend the European army that is being trained and equipped in order to defend Europe. How is that to be done? How is a continent which is virtually disarmed to be defended while it is doing the very thing which the Soviet Union says it will not tolerate? Obviously it can be defended only by the deterrent of retaliatory power.

Thus our primary concern must be to make sure that our military effort is not scattered aimlessly around the world but is directed primarily to the increase of our deterrent power. This means a lot more, I hasten to add, than to order some more B-36's. Then behind the shield of our deterrent power we can help in the creation of a strong Europe only if we approach the problem, not as recruiting sergeants looking for man power, but as statesmen determined to organize a Europe which has a future for which Europeans will be willing to die. That will have to be a Europe in which they wish to live.

FIRST MEASURE

The first great measure toward such a Europe—certainly the greatest in our time and perhaps the greatest in many centuries—is about to be consummated. This will be the signature of the Schuman plan which, while it is in substance an agreement about coal and steel, is in fact and in intention the reconciliation of France and Germany and the foundation of a partnership among them.

There is more to be got out of that not only for the defence of Western Europe but for the liberation of the whole of Europe than out of anything else that we now have to work with.

'Present Danger'

By PETER EDSON, from Washington
FIRST suggestion that makes any sense on what to do in the present international mess comes from Harvard President James B. Conant, Scientist Vannevar Bush, ex-Undersecretary of War Tracy S. Voorhees and some 20 associates. They call themselves "The Committee on the Present Danger."

The meat of their suggestion is that what the United States needs right now, more than anything else, is a trained armed force of 3,500,000 men, built up by two years of universal military service.

TOO LATE NOW

This would not be the paddy-waist program of six-months universal military training plus six months in the reserve or National Guard, as proposed for the last four years and consistently turned down by Congress. That would have been of some help if previously enacted. But it's too late for that now.

What this Committee on the Present Danger now proposes is two years in the army, navy or air force for every young man in the country. This service would begin when the young man graduates from high school, or when he reaches age 18, whenever comes later. Even men who couldn't pass physical examinations would be called on for duty in clerical or non-combatant assignments.

U.S. or universal military service, would not immediately replace the present draft law and selective service system. The draft would still be necessary for men over 18 or 20, and to call back reserves as needed.

DETAILS COMING

Not all the details of this new plan have been worked out, but that is coming. It is perhaps unfortunate that as much of the plan as announced by Dr. Conant may have been buried or lost sight of in the more sensational things which Dr. Bush had to say about atom bombs.

Emphasizing that these are only his personal views, Dr. Bush points out that while the atom bomb has been America's greatest protection against Russian attack, the ability to deliver that bomb against primary targets is gradually decreasing. Jet planes have proved powerful as interceptors. A radar screen makes detection of bomber planes easier. And while the United States has been building a television network, Soviet Russia has been building a radar screen. These are things which military leaders should be pointing out to awaken the country to its present danger. But the importance in which Dr. Bush has to say is what can be done to correct this situation. This is to build up American manpower through some such plan as universal military service.

BETTER WEAPONS

"We cannot plan to meet the hordes of Red China man for man," says Dr. Bush. "We must therefore have in mind the necessity for arming with better weapons. And we must arrange that these weapons get developed and get used. But other means must be used if Russia is to be held in check—namely an army in being. This job cannot be done unless our allies in Europe do the same thing. They must therefore be aided with arms and equipment."

As to where the Committee goes with its plan, there may be some doubt. It has drafted no bill to carry out its ideas. It has not submitted its plan to the President. It has no backing in Congress, though if some congressman wanted to make a name for himself he could not do better than get behind this and push hard.

Ups And Downs

By BRIAN A. TOBIN

"THESE days," said the Elevator Man, "it takes a good man to know what he's doing, and where he's supposed to do it. In a new job a man's not sure just what his duties are. In an old job he begins to wonder why he keeps on. And the way things jump around these days, where he does it can change any moment. Under socialism, of course, it would get still more interesting. The planners guarantee you a job, all right, but they don't say where. It doesn't occur to them that people who get temporarily unemployed in Victoria may not want to be sent to Sudbury or North Bay. But that's another story. What tickles me today is the news item that tells of the Swedish government official who moved from one city to another to fill in for another government fella on vacation. It happened that the government official, and a private concern on the same street both had the same name. The visiting official moved in and for two weeks he did his job faithfully and well—but in the wrong office. Going up!

"Now," said the Elevator Man, "it's bad enough that the fella couldn't tell the difference. But what strikes me is that the office management and staff that he moved in on took it as a matter of course. According to the item, they figured he was a 'controller' or something, and made him welcome. 'Did a good job, too,' the boss said afterwards. I think he shoulda stood in Stockholm. Going down!

"When it gets to the point," said the Elevator Man, "where that kind of thing could happen here, we'll be pretty near the end of the road. I think it's a long way off yet, but it looks bad for the Swedes. Next we may be hearing of a government official who moves in with some strange family, and they let him, under the impression that he's been sent as a domestic 'controller.' But that's a thought only Russia could relish. Canada can't."

New Competition Faces Canada Meat Producers

Opening Of Market To New Zealand Lamb, Pork Deals May Drop Prices

By HAROLD MORRISON

OTTAWA (CP)—New external factors are facing Canadian meat producers, but government officials say they expect the meat price structure can stand the competition.

1. Canadian imports of New Zealand meat—mostly lamb—for the first time since 1940. New Zealand produces meat to sell mainly under contract with the United Kingdom at prices much lower than those current in Canada. Some officials believed New Zealand imports would undersell the Canadian product, but New Zealand trade sources said they would not.

2. Opening of the United States market to Canadian pork products, a move expected to be announced within a few days. Pork in the U.S. normally sells at prices slightly lower than those in Canada. Agriculture Minister Gardiner predicted a few months ago that opening of the market would tend to lower the price of Canadian pork.

3. Opening of the Canadian market to American pork, thus increasing the supply in Canada of cheaper cuts. The controls, lifted partially for special imports last year, were wiped out Dec. 31.

4. Collapse of 1951 Anglo-Canadian bacon negotiations, disclosed last Saturday. This will tend to increase availability of supplies in Canada, stimulated by greater production through abundance of low-priced feed.

Normally, all these factors would tend to reduce the entire meat price structure. But officials say that demand for meat in Canada is high and note that stocks held in storage were 62,000,000 pounds at Dec. 1, much less than the 75,000,000 pounds in storage a year previously.

Import controls were lifted partially last year to allow the United States to ship about 2,000,000 pounds of fresh pork, mostly fat-backs, to Canadian lumber camps and to Newfoundland.

FORD ESTATE HALVED BY TAX

DETROIT (CP)—More than half of the late Henry Ford's $80,319,445 estate went to pay taxes, it was learned Wednesday. A report filed in probate court by the motor magnate's grandsons, Henry II, Benson and William Clay Ford, listed the tax total as $41,114,529. It was the fourth and final accounting of Mrs. Clara Bryant Ford, executrix of her husband's estate until she died last September.

THE HOME GARDEN

Practical Now To Think About Frost

By HILDA BEASTALL

At the beginning of the New Year it is difficult not to be too enthusiastic, that is about gardening, especially if you own a greenhouse.

It is, of course, very practical to think about frosts and zero temperatures, as Jack reminded you at the end of the Old Year. But when we get a brilliant day of sunshine I feel like getting everything started for spring in a big hurry.

But I have to restrain myself. The cacti and succulents, which are kept on the dry side for the winter, are only waiting for sunny days and some water, and they will shoot ahead with new growth. But I know that the new growth could be damaged during a real cold spell in January. The semi-tropical pot plants which shed their leaves in the fall, have been pruned back and are resting in a cool, dry section of the greenhouse. They get an occasional drink on sunny days. These plants include the hibiscus, figs, strawberry guavas, and the poinsettia. They will remain semi-dormant until brought into the warmer section of the greenhouse and fed and watered.

To start this new growth too early would be troublesome. Fine snow, drifting through every crack as it did last winter, can do a lot of damage.

There are jobs, however, to be done, which will entail no hardships later but will help get things ahead. If your favorite dwarf-dahlia tubers are showing buds, divide and pot them. Keep fairly dry and cool until good roots have formed, then 55 degrees until buds appear. They will flower in 100 days—nice to have in April.

The freesias, planted last August, will be showing buds and be in need of some twiggy supports. Do this at once because the stems refuse to grow upright without assistance even though you strengthen them by feeding and keeping very cool.

Disapprove New Plan Of Financing Immigration

Labor Council Speaker Fears It Will Draw Surplus Of Unskilled Workers

Dissatisfaction with terms of the government's latest plan for financing a program of immigration to this country was expressed at a Wednesday night meeting of the Victoria and District Trades and Labor Council (T.L.C.).

Criticism of the plan was started by John Martin, chairman of the council's unemployment committee.

The plan, announced by Immigration Minister Harris last Friday, is that the federal government lend transportation money to prospective immigrants in Great Britain and Western Europe on condition that the money be paid back during the first two years of their residence in Canada. The plan is to start Feb. 1.

'SUSPICIOUS'

After outlining the plan, Mr. Martin declared:

"The whole thing smells." He said he was suspicious of the plan. He said the plan would not be fair to the immigrants, because it would drain them of

Labor Council Nominations For Officers

A contest may develop this year for the presidency of the Victoria and District Trades and Labor Council.

Names of the incumbent president, Charles A. Peck and of executive member Harold Thayer were put forward for the top office when nominations were called at a council meeting Wednesday night.

Thayer, who now serves as chairman of both the legislative and credentials committee, would not commit himself as to whether he would run for sure.

Council president Peck is a delegate to the council from the Electrical Workers' Union. Thayer represents the Machinists' Union.

Vice-president V. J. Baines, although nominated for re-election, indicated he would withdraw at the election meeting. Others nominated to fill the vice-presidency were V. Midgley, C. Davis, T. Gooderham and J. Driscoll.

Driscoll was also nominated to run as secretary-treasurer of the council, but declined, leaving the way clear for the re-election of A. P. Raymond.

Other nominations were: Sergeant-at-arms, A. Bailey, E. Staley, S. Worboys, H. Klunck; organizing committee chairman, T. Gooderham, V. Midgley; publicity and press, C. Davis; halls, Jean Jones.

Legislative committee, H. Thayer, C. Melville; unemployment, J. Martin, E. Duncan; building trades, J. Quissey, J. Driscoll, E. Oliver.

Inspectors' Pay Declared Low

A complaint was laid before the Victoria Trades and Labor Council Wednesday night that Defence Construction Limited, a recently-formed government corporation, is taking on construction inspectors here at salaries less than the wages a journeyman carpenter receives.

The complaint was laid by a construction union delegate.

The council decided to forward to the firm a schedule of construction rates in this area and to watch to see the firm paid at equivalent rates.

Defence Construction Limited is a nation-wide organization which will undertake all future defence constructions.

Boy Hiker, Dead From Exposure, Found On Grouse Mountain Slope

VANCOUVER (CP) — Safety was only a mile away, but 12-year-old Norman Fielders could drag his bruised, weary body no farther.

The red-headed boy who loved hiking was found dead Wednesday night. Mountain cold had taken his life some time after he left his Vancouver home Sunday morning to watch skiers.

Surveyor Bob Neil, an employee of the Greater Vancouver Water Board, found the body while coming down Grouse Mountain.

"He was lying on the logging road just beside a root about 18 inches high," said Neil. "He had dug his way under the root during the night—you could see where he had been digging in the sand."

"He had stayed at the spot for some time. If he had only had some cookies or a chocolate bar he could have made it."

Inside the "cave" were a small pair of mittens and one rubber boot. The boy's body was soaked and his legs badly bruised from stumbling over logs.

Norman was the son of Mrs. Cyril McLellan. She said the boy

FIRE WATCHERS GET TICKETS

VANCOUVER (CP)—Once a traffic cop, always a traffic cop.

When fire broke out Wednesday in the basement of the Parks Hotel, a newsprint storeroom, scores of police officers answered the call.

So did hundreds of onlookers. Many of them parked their cars for a closer look.

About a dozen returned to find they had been ticketed for illegal parking.

often had gone on trips up the mountain, which overlooks Vancouver from the north shore of Burrard Inlet.

The spot where the body was found is only one mile over fairly open terrain from a tearoom, where Neil, fellow surveyor Guy Stone and two R.C.M.P. officers carried the body. The lower level of the mountain also is dotted with homes.

Police said exposure was the cause of death.

The discovery ended a four-day hunt which stretched across part of the lower mainland of British Columbia.

Two Vancouver schoolgirls, Marilyn Long, 15, and Frieda Newfeld, 13, escaped a similar fate last week on Mount Seymour, near Grouse.

They became separated from a Sunday school hiking party and were lost 25 hours. They were rescued unharmed.

49 Safe After Forced Landing Of Air Liner

Plane Explodes In Field Near Chicago

CHICAGO (AP) — Skillful handling of a C-46 airliner in making a forced landing minutes after the takeoff was credited early today with saving the lives of 46 passengers and the crew of three.

All 49 walked to safety seconds before the big ship burst into flames. Three of the 49 suffered minor injuries.

Through adept handling by Pilot Marvin Staddon, the plane was landed in an open field after it had failed to gain altitude after taking off from Midway Airport. The plane one passenger reported, bounced along the open field, skidded into a haystack and remained upright.

The fire broke out after all 49 had left the ship. It still was burning in the field a few blocks from the airport several hours later.

The plane, owned by the Monarch Air Service, had left on a special flight to Newark, N.

SPORTSWRITER ATTEMPTING TO REGAIN STRIDE AFTER NEW YEAR'S HOLIDAYS: Now is the time for all good men to come to the aid of the party. . . . Let's see—shall I start off with the story of Eddie Shore and the time that the Regina Caps were reported to Portland? . . . Kenny Mackenzie, who owned the Edmonton Eskis, obtained Shore from Regina. . . . But, Shore didn't report to Edmonton and tried out in Minneapolis where he scarcely could catch a place on a club that included Tiny Thompson, Ching Johnson, Taffy Abel and Cooney Weiland. . . . Mackenzie finally caught up with Shore and they sat down to negotiate a contract. . . . Shore always thought that he out-smarted Mackenzie on that one—he was under the impression that he had signed a three-year contract at $3,000 per year. . . . But, when he examined the contract later, he discovered that he had signed for a paltry $1,000 a year. . . . Shore's still scratching his head over that one; but he sharpened up considerably in later years. For that matter, Howie Morenz signed up for $1,800 for a season with Montreal Canadiens and he KNEW what he was doing. . . . Hmmm—I must remember to wish belated birthday greetings to all thoroughbred horses. . . . They became one year older on New Year's Day. . . . For that matter, I aged 10 years on New Year's Day. . . .

From Runyan's Repertoire

When the Canadian Press conducted the year-end polls, they missed a few other outstanding Canadian athletes of the past 50 years. . . . How about the fellow who won the coffee-drinking contest in the courtroom at St. Boniface City Hall one afternoon? . . . He drank 55 cups, flooring all opponents and then topped off his performance by quaffing a couple of gallons of beer. . . . His only rival, even in the field of fiction, would be Mr. "Nicely-Nicely" Jones who appeared in some of the late Damon Runyan's stories. . . . There's hope for all struggling authors—Runyan didn't write the first of his successful "Guys and Dolls" short stories until he was 49 years of age. . . . He explained that, up until then, he was simply gathering material. . . . Runyan was one sports writer who always pooh-poohed the theory that Jack Johnson took a dive in his world championship bout with Jess Willard at Havana in 1915. . . . Runyan was on the spot and, furthermore, he was the confidant of promoter Jack Curley and the gamblers who wagered heavily on the fight. . . . Runyan said Johnson's purse of $30,000 was paid to the fighter by Curley at Johnson's Havana the afternoon before the fight. . . .

Training Too Strenuous

The legend has it that Johnson fought until the 26th round when a wave from his wife at the ringside assured him that she had just been paid their guaranteed purse. . . . After all, Johnson was 37 when he fought those 26 rounds against the gigantic young Willard and he had been training in the bars of Paris for several years. . . . Runyan said that Johnson simply was too tired to continue. . . .

Shall I use the story about the late Phil McBean and the time that he took a taxi-ride with a fully-grown bear which he had imported as a mascot for the Winnipeg Blue Bombers? . . . The Bombers should have used that bear in the backfield against Toronto Argos last Nov. 25. . . . Shall I tell 'em about the famous bout between Heartless Harold McMillan, the Alberta Assassin, and Frisky Fred Doberman, the Lacombe Larruper? . . . Nope—I'd better save that for a full column some day.

Obviously Party Types

Or, how about the time that Reg Threlfall, who subsequently became coach of the Winnipeg Blue Bombers, broke up the annual dinner of the American Association of Coaches at the Waldorf Astoria in New York? . . . Reginald borrowed a feathered headdress and tomahawk, smeared his bare chest with cranberry sauce and, emitting bloodcurdling cries, chased a stooge through the banquet hall while his fellow-coaches ducked beneath the tables for cover. . . .

It's too early in the year to write another Johnny Needle-Nose column. . . . The late Robert Benchley once was facing a deadline and, resolutely, he thrust a sheet of paper into his typewriter. . . . After several minutes of contemplation, he pecked out the single word "The". . . . Obviously, this was a very good start. . . . The one word sat there on the paper, staring reproachfully at Benchley as he stared back at it. . . . Benchley stared at the white paper until he became slightly snow-blind. . . . However, no constructive thought was forthcoming from his curdled mind. . . . Eventually, he finished one terse sentence on the typewriter, donned his hat and coat and strode resolutely from that place. . . . Later examination showed that he had added only three words to the original "The". . . . His completed deathless sentence was: "The hell with it!"

DRAWS ANNOUNCED

City Cage Playoffs To Commence Jan. 13

Victoria and District Basketball Association officials announced today that playoffs will start here Jan. 13.

Of the 10 divisions in the association, seven will play off, and three will automatically be awarded city crowns.

Individuals of the men's senior A division, the women's senior A Arrow Furniture team, and the Moose team in the Intermediate A women's division have no opposition for the Victoria championship.

In the men's senior B division three initial playoff series will see first and third, second and fourth, and fifth and sixth teams matched. Winners of the series between the first and third-place teams will receive a bye into the finals while winners of the other two series play off.

TOTAL POINTS

All playoffs will be on a two-game, total-points basis.

Intermediate A men and Intermediate B men will have a short series. First-place team will receive a bye into the final to be decided when second and third-place teams play off.

In the remaining women's divisions, senior B, Intermediate B, and junior, the playoff will be between the first and second-place teams; as will the series in the junior boys' division. An association meeting has been called for next Wednesday at Victoria High School to discuss suspension of teams for non-payment of assessments. The meeting is set for 8 in the evening and all teams have been requested to send representatives.

Heath Joins Browns

CLEVELAND, O. (BUP)—The world champion Cleveland Browns of the National Football League today picked up former All-America backfield star Stan Heath as a free agent.

Heath was with the Green Bay Packers in 1949 and Hamilton, Ont., in the Canadian Football league last year.

JUNIOR TARS EDGED AGAIN BY VIC JINX

Outshoot Leaders But Elusive Nets Put Sailors Off

Archie Courtinall and Art Green, high-flying forwards who are currently playing a big role with Capitals in the Commercial Hockey League, led Victoria Vics to a 4 to 3 triumph over Navy in the Vancouver Island Junior Hockey League game at Memorial Arena last night.

Art Green got the important tying goal in the third period, while Courtinall picked up two goals and an assist for the winners. Sailors, who outshot Vics 23 to 15, and had a decided edge in play through most of the game, were robbed of a win by hard luck around the net.

Roy Derry, Dave Hill and Paul Wannamaker, Tars' first string, were in on all Navy scoring plays.

In the juvenile preliminaries, Cubs beat Bruins 3 to 1 and Senators were shut out by Capitals 2 to 0.

Summary follows:

First period—1, Vics, Courtinall (Robinson) 40; 2, Navy, Hill, 16:00. Penalties: Wannamaker, Shedy. Second period—3, Navy, Wannamaker (Derry) 1:20. Penalties: Kowalyk, Hunter, Shedy, Rose, Derry. Third period—4, Vics, Courtinall, 1:31; 5, Navy, Wannamaker (Hill) 4:25; 6, Vics, Green (Courtinall) 8:50; 7, Vics, Elliott, 11:00. Penalties: Elliott, Signin, McCubbin, Hodges.

New Esquimalt Junior Eleven Starts Sunday

Commencement of the second half of the regular season schedule in the Junior and Juvenile Soccer League will be marked this week-end by the entry of a new Esquimalt junior club. They will play one of Sunday's feature games when they meet Duncan Native Sons at Bullen Park at 2:15.

Two first division games are also scheduled for 2:15 Sunday. Pitzer and Nex will meet Tillamums at Windsor Park, while Esquimalt tangle with Vic Combines at Victoria West.

Heaneys and Vets of France will engage in another junior tilt at upper Beacon Hill, Sunday afternoon at 1.

Saturday afternoon at 1, Army, Navy and Air Force Vets will meet Mac's Champs at upper Beacon Hill, while Argosy Cafe and Cordova Bay Rovers scrap it out at Heywood Avenue.

Legend Revived As Billy Smith Runs Out On Fight

PORTLAND, Ore. (AP)—That old-time fighter, mysterious Billy Smith, died in Portland in 1937 but that modern fighter, Billy Smith of Oakland, Calif., revived the ancient moniker with a weird performance Tuesday night.

The original mysterious Billy got his name—he said—because the Police Gazette once wondered "who is this mysterious Billy Smith?" building up a reputation on the west coast.

The current Billy Smith created his mystery by ducking out and not coming back for the rest of his fight.

In the eighth round of his fight here with Archie Moore, 182, Smith lifted himself off the ropes at the count of five and fled to his dressing room. Referee Ralph Gruman promptly awarded the fight to Moore, a Toledo, O., heavyweight.

PACHAL GETS FOUR

BELLEVUE (CP)—Vern Pachal bagged four goals here last night as Crow's Nest Pass Lions smothered the last-place Calgary Buffaloes 6 to 2 in a Western Canada Junior Hockey League encounter.

Rocks Rout Elks In Feature Of One-Sided Cage Program

The top-heavy nature of play in three basketball divisions was evident last night when Victoria and District Basketball Association started the final half of the season.

The men's senior B game, closest contest of the night, went to Shamrocks with a 51 to 34 win over Elks. Undeclared Merchants lapped the Chinese Students 57 to 12, while C. & C. Taxi white-washed Esquimalt Merchants in a junior girls' opener 55 to 8.

Pred Ranson, with 18 points, paced Shamrocks. Starry Laurie,

LONGS FOR GRACIE

Gaunt Predicts Tide Win Here On Saturday

Playing rugby for top-notch Rochdale Hornets in England's Northern Professional Rugby League has special attractions, according to Crimston Tide coach, Sid Gaunt. You might find your self tucking your head under Gracie Field's arm in the scrum. As every fan of Gracie knows, Rochdale is her home town. In addition to practically every other honorary position, Gracie is mascot of the Hornets. Any time Gracie is in Rochdale for a home game the players can count on her to turn up in rugged strip, tuck her pretty head into her hunched shoulders and run into the scrum with a "I'll give 'ee a push, ba boom."

PRO AT 17

Gaunt was a youngster of 17 when he left Victoria in 1934 to join brother Roy in one of the world's crack professional rugby leagues. He was surprised to find Hornets a cosmopolitan aggregation from every corner of Empire. There were players from New Zealand, South Africa, Canada, Australia and Wales—and one or two native-born Englishmen.

During his four years as an Old Country professional he was a member of the English rep team which toured France, and played against a top Aussie aggregation in 1937. It was during the series against Australia that Sid suffered a severe injury to his knee which cost him the chance to tour the Antipodes with the English All Stars, and which eventually ended his active playing career.

ON ACTIVE SERVICE

He returned to Canada to join the forces in 1940, and has interested himself in Victoria rugby ever since.

Sid learned the fundamentals of the game in school here, starting when he was 10 years old. In his senior years, 1933-34, he played with the old 5th Regiment team.

Today, he would like to see more rugby played in the schools, and he hopes it will be the 13-man game. He has seen 13-man Rugby League draw thousands of spectators in England while the 15-man Rugby Union game is withering on the vine. Even in the short period that league has been played here, attendance figures prove that interest is growing.

Brother Roy, who now lives in North Vancouver, is keen to see league play introduced on the mainland and will soon be active in promoting the game over there.

NEED SUPPORT

Indignant about the non-appearance of North Shore here on Boxing Day, Sid is frankly worried about the reaction of the hundreds of people who came out for that game and went away disappointed.

"Saturday's game is tremendously important to us if we are to remain in contention for the McKee Cup," he asserts, "and the boys naturally do much better with the stands full."

Tide will be put through a gruelling workout tonight and Friday evening. Thunderbirds are reputed to be the best team fielded by Varsity in several years. Included in the school line-up are one or two former Victoria College stars who will be familiar with the play of individual Tide performers and acquainted with the field and playing conditions.

"We'll win," Sid says, "but I sure wish we had Gracie with us."

Coast Conference May Forego Famed Gridiron Classic

RIVERSIDE, Calif. (AP)—The fate of the famed Rose Bowl football game hangs in suspense today—and it will continue to hang that way for another two weeks.

Officials of the Pacific Coast Conference have electrified the world of college football by disclosing that the conference is seriously considering discontinuing, or modifying, its annual participation in the oldest and richest post-season game of them all.

The conference will soon hold a special, unprecedented meeting to decide whether it will continue to participate in the New Year's Day grid classic next year and in the years to come.

College football, said H. P. Everest, president of the Pacific Coast Conference, is getting too big for its trousers.

"We must take steps to relieve the tensions, and this is the first step."

The pressure to win football games, as crystallized in any post-season bowl game, is too much, said Everest.

Louis Boosts Stock With Smashing Win

Regains Punch To Stop Beshore In Fourth Round

DETROIT (AP)—Joe Louis' tremendous home-town following argued vociferously today, in the wake of Joe's smashing victory over outclassed Freddie Beshore last night—that the old Brown Bomber is still the best heavyweight in the business.

Louis took another step up the comeback ladder by stopping Beshore handily in two minutes and 48 seconds of the fourth round of a scheduled 10-rounder.

Referee Johnny Weber halted the one-sided battle to save the bloodied Beshore, his left eyelid badly cut and his nose battered, from further punishment.

Ex-champion Louis' many roots—13,096 fans paid $41,425 to see the scrap—pointed out that it took current champion Ezzard Charles 14 rounds to finish Beshore last August.

That Beshore's crowding, wild-swinging tactics were tailor-made for Louis nobody would deny. But the experts were virtually unanimous in their belief that Louis showed remarkable improvement in disposing of the Harrisburg, Pa., ex-sailor in such workmanlike fashion.

Joe's lethal right hand, seldom thrown in his losing battle with Charles last summer or in his most recent so-so bout with Cesar Brion, was powerful. It was equally effective in six-inch straight punches or in uppercuts. His famous left jab was sharp and shattering.

LOUIS UNMARKED

At the finish, the 36-year-old Louis was unmarked and not even breathing heavily. His trim weight of 210½ testified to his good condition. This was nearly eight pounds less than he weighed for his "post-retirement" title fight with Charles.

Beshore, 10 years younger than Louis and nearly 19 pounds lighter at 191½, had no quarrel with Weber's decision.

Three stitches were required to mend the gash. At first it was thought that Beshore's nose was broken, but the doctors said his severe nosebleed was caused by rupture of an off-injured nose cartilage, not from any bone fracture.

LOSER'S OPINION

Beshore sided with Louis' supporters in saying that the ex-champ is still a better fighter than Charles.

"Joe hits you square," Beshore said. "Charles just cuffs you."

Louis Cracks Back At Fight Official

DETROIT (AP)—Joe Louis suggested last night that the chairman of the Pennsylvania State Athletic Commission—not the "Brown Bomber"—retire "for the good of boxing."

He announced in the dressing room after he gained a technical knockout over Freddie Beshore in the fourth round that he was sending a telegram to the Governor of Pennsylvania demanding the removal of chairman John (Ox) Da Grossa.

Da Grossa said recently that Louis should retire for "the good of boxing."

"I think Da Grossa should retire instead of me," Louis boasted.

SALTY TAGS FOR SAILORS

Weird and wonderful are the names which attach themselves to hockey players. In the Commercial League the palm is being handed to the Navy "kid line" for the most colorful acquired monickers. Centre-forward Roy "Hot Lips" Derry is flanked by wingers Paul "The Beef" Wannamaker, and Dave "Bunker" Hill.

Royals Add To Lead By Nipping Ironmen

Frank Dotten uncovered his favorite trick again last night, but this time it didn't win the hockey game.

The league-leading New Westminster Royals edged his Seattle Ironmen 2 to 1 in their Pacific Coast Hockey League battle.

With the Royals leading 2 to 0 near the end of the third, coach Dotten benched his goalie, Red McAttee, and put six forwards on the ice. Denny Huddleston of New Westminster was in the penalty box at the time.

The strategy did pay off, but only in part. Joe Bell saved Seattle from a shutout at 19:36, but the Ironmen couldn't collect the equalizer.

Seattle plays again tonight, this time against Portland Eagles, and this time the Ironmen will be the visiting team.

Summary follows:

New Westminster 2, Seattle 1
First period—Scoring: none. Penalties: none.
Second period—1, New Westminster, Dorohey Dufault, Love 11:15; 2, New Westminster, Lavell (Koch) 19:36. Penalties: none.
Third period—3, Seattle, Bell, 19:36. Penalties: Bloom, Huddleston.

Varsity Stadium May Get Tarpaulin

TORONTO (CP)—The University of Toronto may buy a tarpaulin to protect the playing field at Varsity Stadium—scene of Canada's annual Grey Cup football final.

Warren Stevens, the university's athletic director, said Wednesday the athletic board is collecting information on performance of tarpaulins and their cost. It may reach a tentative decision before the end of this month on whether it would be a sound investment.

Rangers Cuff Wings To Move Near Playoff Spot

Last night Detroit Red Wings found out what it was like to be kicked in the teeth by a doormat.

The Red Wings, leaders of the National Hockey League, came to Madison Square Garden looking for easy pickings against the last-place New York Rangers—a team they had beaten five times and tied once in six previous meetings.

And the Rangers kicked their teeth in with a 5 to 3 victory.

Edgar LaPrade, a veteran centre who had the fans whispering "has been" most of this season, scored a goal and set up two more.

Eddie Kullman, who hasn't escaped the minors for a full season since he broke into pro hockey three years ago, also had a goal and two assists. Linemate Tony Leswick, whose main claim to fame this year is league leadership in penalties, sank the clincher.

TURNABOUT

Detroit's Abel-Howe-Lindsay line, the highest-scoring threesome in the league, didn't pick up a point. Secondstringers Jimmy McFadden, Jim Peters and Marty Pavelich—allegedly the Wings'

UNITED TO MEET SHORES ON MAINLAND

VANCOUVER (CP)—The Pacific Coast Soccer League playoffs will open at Callister Park here Jan. 13, league secretary Bill Findler announced last night.

First game of the semi-final for the league cup will pit top-place North Shore United against fourth-place Victoria.

The second section of the semifinal matches Vancouver City against St. Andrews the following week. The battle for the title goes at Callister Park Jan. 27. All games are sudden death affairs. However, should Victoria win on the 13th, the final will be a home-and-home series with total goals counting.

JOINS CANADIENS

MONTREAL (CP)—Montreal Canadiens of the National Hockey League last night called up Claude Robert from Cincinnati Mohawks of the American League to replace Billy Reay, out with an injured back.

defensive line—scored their club's three goals.

The victory moved the Rangers within a point of Chicago Black Hawks, Montreal Canadiens and Boston Bruins, all tied for third place and gave them a chance to vacate the cellar for the first time this season.

Summary follows:

New York 5, Detroit 3
First period—Scoring: none. Penalties: Leswick, Reay, Hales, Lindsay, Egan.
Second period—1, New York, Kullman (Kullman) 20; 2, New York, Kullman (Leswick-LaPrade) 1:20; 3, New York, Stanley 14:33; 4, Detroit, McFadden (Goldham) 17:28; 5, Detroit, Peters (Pavelich, Goldham) 19:02. Penalty: Kyle.
Third period—6, Detroit, Pavelich (Peters McFadden) 4:12; 7, New York, Edolles (LaPrade) 6:48; 8, New York, Leswick (Kullman) 17:47. Penalty: Martin.

IT'S MY VIEW

By BILL WALKER, Sports Editor.

Pacific Coast Hockey League teams have entered the home stretch of their 70-game schedule and so far no one team has dominated the circuit. New Westminster Royals got out in front early and have managed to stay there though their margin is being sliced week by week. Portland

Eagles have collapsed completely in recent weeks and are now for the first time since the start of the season threatened with relegation to the league cellar. Most surprising team in the league at the present time is Muzz Patrick's Tacoma Rockets who play here tomorrow night. The Rockets, who survived one slump about a month ago, are the only club in the league besides the Royals to boast a winning margin on the season. All other teams are below the .500 percentage mark in the matter of games won and lost. Speaking of percentages, the press in Seattle has been giving a new twist to the standings in that it releases day by day the standing of the Ironmen percentage-wise. And the Ironmen, who still have a couple of games in hand over most of the teams, are by this method of computation in fourth place and only a few points behind the Cougars.

League's Hottest Club

Lucien Dechene, the Royals starry netminder, has been given the credit for keeping the Royals on top, but he still ranks second to Seattle's Phil McAtee in the goals against department. However, Dechene has handled far more shots safely than McAtee. That the Ironmen are a definite threat can be seen in their record over the past five weeks.

In that time they have won eight, tied seven and lost four, by far the most impressive mark in the league. Over the same period the Cougars, who were in fourth place on Nov. 30, have won five, tied a like number and lost six. However, in the past 10 days the Cougars have rebounded from a succession of injuries to win three of their last four starts.

Portland's slump is also well illustrated in this period, the Eagles losing eight and tying three of their last 14 games. The Royals also lost ground with only five wins and two ties to show for 13 games.

Rockets, Canucks Gaining

On the other hand, Tacoma and Vancouver gained stature. The Rockets won five and tied five of 13 games while the Canucks, the tyingest team in the league, played to eight draws and won three (two of which were over the Cougars) in 13 games.

On this basis the league race promises to go into the final weeks without any one of the playoff spots being definitely assured.

The closeness of the league race is also aptly demonstrated in the games lost column. Tacoma has lost the least, 12, while the Eagles have dropped the most decisions, 16. A Cougar triumph over Tacoma here Friday would further tighten this phase of the standings and put the Cougars again within one victory of a .500 mark for the season, a point they reached once before this year.

A Vote of Confidence

Most of the teams have undergone several player changes in the past few weeks but the Cougars have remained the same. Fans no doubt are wondering just what reason there is for such a lack of action in this regard on the part of the Cougar management.

The most common question is: "Why doesn't Lester Patrick loosen the purse strings and buy a few players? Everybody else is doing it."

The obvious answer to a query of this nature is that both Patrick and coach Roger Leger feel that in the present squad they have a club capable of at least making the playoffs and perhaps going all the way. It must be remembered that the Cougars have been playing shorthanded for several weeks now and still have managed to keep pace with the rest of the league.

Barring further injuries and other unforeseen circumstances, the Cougars should be at peak strength from here on in. And there is hardly any use picking up additional players unless such players will definitely improve the club. It's up to the Cougars now to justify the faith of the management in their ability.

SCHOOL ROUND-UP

Oak Bay High Enjoys Banner Sports Season

Oak Bay High School rejoiced in a major share of the schools' sports trophies for the year 1950.

In the senior soccer league one of Vic High's three teams, the Greens, tied with Oak Bay High for top spot. But Oak Bay took the Colist Cup when they won the first game of a best-of-three final over Vic High 3 to 2. The other two games were ties.

Oak Bay High was the victor in the Junior Basketball League. Their centre, Lawrence Veltch, set a new scoring record when he netted 43 points in one game.

Oak Bay also won the grass hockey championship, and the Mae Tulley Shield, when they defeated Mount Douglas in a sudden-death playoff.

A fourth major trophy came

Culmone Starts Where He Left Off In 1950

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—Jockey Joe Culmone launched his 1951 campaign at Tropical Park race track Wednesday with two winners, two second and a third in five mounts.

The Sicilian-born rider who shared 1950 riding honors with Willie Shoemaker as both rode a record-equalling 388 winners, was forced to lay off the first two days of the new year because of a shoulder injury suffered Sunday at Havana's Oriental Park the way of Oak Bay with the Howard Russell rugby cup, snatched from Vic High in a hard-fought final.

PERFECT RECORD Mount View had a perfect in the Junior Soccer League. They were undefeated and unscored on and finished one point ahead of the Vic High Blacks.

The Vic High cross-country team started its season very successfully, placing second, in a field of seven, to Royal Roads in the annual four-mile run at the college.

TOTEMS SHOW PROMISE

After playing the first half of their season the Victoria High School rep basketball team, the Totems have a seven and six record, two of their defeats being at the hands of the B.C. champions, Duke of Connaught. In the City Intermediate A League Totems are undefeated after playing four games.

Pete Zarry is top scorer with 153 points in 12 games, while Norm Forbes has 114 points in the same number of contests.

Vic High was also victorious in the annual swimming gala, winning the Sir Edward Beatty Trophy over runners-up Central Junior High and Oak Bay High.

Track honors also went to Vic High in the annual track meet, with Oak Bay second and Mount View third.

TOTEMS MEET TILlicUMS SATURDAY

School Hoopsters May Be Extended Invitational Bid

Gar Taylor's intermediate B Tillicums will get their long-sought game with Victoria High School Totems. The tilt has been arranged as an opener on the Individuals-Alberni senior A basketball game at the Badminton Hall Saturday night.

Tillicums, undefeated in league play, extended a challenge to Vic High's Totems two weeks ago.

INVITATION TOURNEY

The high school team, which is also undefeated in regular league play, was cast as host club this week in a plan for a Vancouver Island Interhigh invitation on the same lines as the provincial meet and several annual meets held in the interior.

Eight clubs may be invited, including teams from Nanaimo, Courtenay, Port Alberni, with three teams to be chosen from Victoria high schools.

It is planned to adopt the rules of the B.C. tourney with the exception of the rule governing players in commercial leagues. Decision in this matter will be left up to school principals.

TO PLAY COLLEGE

Tentatively, the meet is being planned as a double elimination event for Feb. 23 and 24 and will be held in the Vic High gym.

Totems are looking to sharp competition to get them into condition for the projected tournament. In addition to the game with Tillicums Saturday they are scheduled to meet Victoria College, coached by Reggie Clarkson, at the high school tomorrow.

CALGARY, Alta. (BUP)—The disappearing lead of the Edmonton Flyers stood at seven points in the Western Canada Senior Hockey League today after a 5 to 1 drubbing last night at the hands of the second-place Calgary Stampeders.

Before their current slump, the injury-riddled Flyers were 14 points ahead of the Stamps. Dunc Grant led the scoring last night with a goal in the first period and another in the third.

American Women Can Relax; Expert Says They Are Tops

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—American women can relax. An expert on international talent says they are the most beautiful females in the world.

The word comes from Mel Ballerino, talent executive at M.G.M., just returned from a six-month tour recruiting talent for the Roman epic, "Quo Vadis." In that time he cast 20,000 people from practically every country in the world.

"After seeing them all, I am convinced more than ever that American girls are the most beautiful in the world," said Ballerino, who despite his Italian name is a native of Los Angeles.

"You can spot an American girl on the boulevard of any country in the world. Her form, her dress and the way she walks make her stand out from all the other women."

He pointed out the distinguishing features of the American girl: "I first place, she stands erect, much more so than any other nationality. She is taller and more statuesque. She has long, beautiful legs."

"Actually, she is like a thoroughbred racehorse. We are a mixture of all nationalities and the cross-breeding has created a race of long-limbed beauties. Ballerino sought talent in France, Italy and Britain. Of the French women, he observed: "They are not especially beautiful."

Warner Bros. is looking for a strong drama to team Doris Day and Steve Cochran, the married pair of "Storm Warning." The "surprise" wedding, Dec. 29 of Gig Young and drama coach Sophie Rosenstein was no surprise to readers of this pillar. The marriage was announced here two months ago.

The city of Glendale, Calif., is the star of Arch Oboler's just completed atom bomb picture, "Five." The streets were completely cleared on two separate Sundays to simulate the skeleton-strewn emptiness of a world decimated by radio-active atomic dust. Only five people survive.

ful, but they are chic. No matter how a French girl looks, she manages to add something to her appearance that makes her attractive.

As for the British girls: "They have some real beauties, but they are usually cold and fragile."

And Italian girls: "They have a soft, dark, short kind of beauty."

BBC Bans Jokes About Burlesque

LONDON (AP)—The BBC has banned any further mention on the air of the Windmill Theatre—the biggest and best known burlesque house in the United Kingdom.

The Windmill has turned out many comedians who went on to radio fame. They made a habit of tossing references to their old stamping ground into their scripts.

Warners' Company To Break In Two

WASHINGTON (AP)—Attorney-General J. Howard McGrath announced a plan Wednesday for breaking up Warner Bros. motion picture corporation into two separate concerns. He said Warner Bros. had agreed to it.

Under the plan, the two new companies will function independently. One will devote itself to movie production and distribution. The other will operate local motion picture theatres across the country.

The justice department said the plan was worked out as a result of an anti-trust judgment against the company.

It involves sale of some of Warner's theatres.

CHICAGO (AP)—Radio station WBBM has announced discharge of six employees because of profanity that went on the air during a station break in the Rose Bowl football game broadcast Monday. NEW YORK (AP)—Richard Hart, 35-year-old stage, television and motion picture actor, died Tuesday night following a rehearsal. ## SINGER PLEASES

Blanche Thebom Heard In Sparkling Program

By AUDREY S.T.D. JOHNSON

Victorians found mezzo-soprano Blanche Thebom not only a fine interpretive artist but a sparkling and magnetic personality, when she appeared Wednesday night at the Royal Theatre.

A rare combination of virtues make her the ideal concert artist. Tall, lovely, poised, possessed of vitality and humor, she captivates her audience with as little effort as she sings a complex passage.

From the opening Benjamin Britten number to the fine subtlety of the Faure "Les Berceux," the songs were meticulously chosen and presented with a deep and poetic understanding of their spirit.

Naturally, the Schubert group, in which she was admirably partnered by her accompanist, William Hughes, gave one the clearest insight into the calibre of this artist. The long, elliptical phrases of the "Nacht und Traume," the airy, sprite-like texture revealed in "Der Schmetteler," and the intense brooding atmosphere of "Der Doppelgänger" will live long in memory.

Her voice is an exquisitely trained and controlled instrument. She is adroit in using just the texture and degree of tone most expressive of the idea and in making chameleon-like changes of tonal color from one note to the next. She appears not to breathe at all, her voice seeming to float so freely that at times it seems almost disembodied. And always her facial expression is charming, her bodily poise graceful and assured. Possibly the one disappointment was Miss Thebom's failure to program one of the standard mezzo-soprano arias. Her numerous encores displayed a taste for the unusual and a liking for sharing a joke with her audience. They were mostly of a brief and effervescent quality.

There's one agent in Hollywood, reports Alan Wilson, who is making more money than all the others combined. He has 10 per cent of two TV sign painters.

LE CANADEL, French Riviera (Reuter)—Charles Koechlin, 83, French composer and professor of music, died here Wednesday.

Fire Destroys Hotel, Newsprint In Vancouver

75 Flee Parks Hostel; 16 Firemen Hospitalized; Daily Province Loses

VANCOUVER (CP)—Firemen stood guard throughout the night at a smouldering newsprint-storeroom where a three-alarm fire launched a multi-pronged attack Wednesday.

The fire, in a three-hour rampage, destroyed the four-story Parks Hotel;

Forced 75 guests to flee for their lives;

Sent 16 firemen to hospital; Caused the Vancouver Daily Province to run off its final edition on the presses of the Vancouver Sun, its afternoon rival;

And destroyed 500 tons of newsprint, worth $54,000.

The fire also gutted a restaurant on the ground floor of the 72-room hotel. Fire department officials have set total damage at more than $100,000.

The storeroom was in the basement of the hotel, which adjoins the Daily Province building on downtown Pender Street. Smoke damage was reported heavy in the newspaper's circulation offices.

The Province was hopeful, however, that it would be able to run off all editions today on its own presses.

Cause of the fire was not known. Fire wardens reported the blaze, marked by volumes of dense smoke, was under control by 4 p.m. Wednesday, three hours after the outbreak. But the fight was by no means over. Thick smoke prevented fighters from reaching the heart of the blaze.

Besides the firemen treated at hospital, about 30 others were treated at the scene—victims of the choking smoke. Firemen worked in relays and each team could stay in the murky basement only two or three minutes before staggering out sick and red-eyed.

Canada Invites Atlantic Pact Countries To Send New Men For Air Training Plan

OTTAWA (CP)—Defence Minister Claxton has announced Canada is offering "to increase substantially" her air training plan for Atlantic Pact allies and invited them to send the new men over "as soon as possible."

He didn't go into details but it was reported in informed quarters Canada is willing to boost the total of aircrew candidates coming here from 300 to 1,000 or more and to foot a bill of the magnitude of $40,000,000 for the project in the next fiscal year.

Mr. Claxton, in a stocktaking statement on 1951's prospects, said the defence department's aim is to double the navy's operational activities this year and that the army now has under arms the equivalent of a full-sized division "capable of rapid assembly as such if that was desirable."

He said the forces' manpower ceiling of 69,000 "will be increased as desired." They now have about 62,000 men. He said, too, the government already has under consideration enough proposals for arms aid to Europe to use up the full $300,000,000 appropriated by Parliament and that Canada hopes some of the equipment to go across will be of exclusively Canadian design.

Freight Sheds Burn

PITTSBURGH (AP)—A spectacular fire of undetermined origin practically destroyed the Pennsylvania Railroad's block-long freight station on the city's south side. Fire Chief William H. Davis said a preliminary estimate of the damage was some $30,000.

The Lid & Ladder The G. F. Madder

Before out in Oak Bay we poked our nose, I used to go in the garden... in any old clothes. Because in View Royal we were mostly secluded, & a stranger our privacy seldom intruded. So it didn't much matter WHAT I wore, 'cept it made the G.F., good & sore. "Just LOOK at your pants!" she'd pretend to faint, "plastered with dirt, grease & paint. And for Heaven's Sakes," she'd open her chops, "why under that sweater... your pyjama tops. You go right inside," she'd point & blurt, "take them off... and put on your shirt." "I'd slam the pitch fork in the earth, & pitch in too... MY 5 cents' worth. "Ah... nuts," I used to mumble, as off to the basement I'd shuffle & stumble. "I kept 'em on, coz they're nice & warm, to convention, do I ALWAYS... have to conform?" "Well... it's bad enuff, while out here we stay, but 30 times worse, when we move to Oak Bay. 'Cause there'll be naybors then, & no trees between, so everything U wear will B plainly seen. So you MUST promise me, & not fret or squirm, before we leave... those pants you'll burn?" "Ah... I guess so," then I blew my sniffer, & disappeared... into the cellar. "D-A-M-E-S," I'd say, & give the furnace a kick, they're all the same... THEY MAKE ME SICK." Except of course, when they come in our store & want a washer, & we show 'em a "THOR." And hear them say, giving a glance, "can I even throw in my husband's pants?" "Oh yes... we beam... there isn't a doubt, these'll THOR-oly get... ALL THE DIRT out." Now I dunno... what do YOU think, does that plug fit in, or does it...? Well, as U know, came the day, we moved out here into Oak Bay. And 'twas while I was raking up some leaves, I saw the rain, overflowing the eaves. I got the ladder, nearly broke my neck, & the rain was pouring down my neck. "I wish," I said to myself had a chat. "I wish to goodness... I owned a hat. Just ANY old hat, this rain to disarm, it was even streaming down my arm. I gazed about, the ladder gave a lurch, then a hat I spotted from my lofty perch. I slithered down, then across the lawn, & got this thing & put it on. It was a bit smelly, but I didn't care, then back up the ladder, with this thing on my hair. And the rain came down, my hat it did smack-it, & it also made one helluva racket. But I smiled to myself, as I saw the rain shed, it always pays, to use one's head. Then I heard a shout, I just KNEW, I was caught, so under my hat I tried to squat. "THIS VERY INSTANT... you come down from there," that voice she uses when tearing her hair. She was screaming then, as down I slid, "of ALL things... THE GARBAGE CAN LID."

Tibet's Dalai Lama Flees Before Invading Reds

NEW DELHI (AP)—India's government received word today that Tibet's Dalai Lama has reached the snow-covered mountain town of Yatung, only a day's march from the Indian-protected state of Sikkim.

But India's trade agent in Yatung, telegraphing the news to his government, said the 16-year-old boy ruler of the Communist-threatened lama land appears prepared to remain just within the borders of his own country indefinitely.

Indian government officials here say the Dalai Lama has no plans to enter India, which has offered him sanctuary from the Chinese Reds who have invaded his mountainous country.

It is presumed here the Dalai Lama is designating Yatung as his provisional capital and now will reassume full ruling powers there. Reports from Lhasa had said he appointed an official to administer the government there in his absence.

U.S. Congress Asked To Vote Building Of Huge Carrier For A-Bomb Planes

WASHINGTON (AP)—Legislation for a 60,000-ton super aircraft carrier which presumably could put the United States navy in the atom-bomb business was introduced Wednesday as one of the first bills of the new Congress. Hearings will start Jan. 9.

In the background as the House of Representatives armed services committee offered the measure were the same explosive issues which brought about the "admirals' revolt" and a congressional investigation in 1949.

The basic disputes then were over the roles to be assigned to the navy and the air force in carrying long-range war to an enemy, and the division of funds to prepare for those roles.

Actually the sea service is believed to be ready now for nuclear weapons operations, but on a relatively small scale.

Louis Johnson, then Secretary of Defense, canceled construction of the proposed 65,000-ton aircraft carrier United States in April, 1949, after the keel for the ship had been laid.

Sponsors of the new proposal for an out-size carrier said it is not a revival of the idea of the U.S.S. United States, planned to cost between $124,000,000 and $189,000,000. Navy spokesmen have said its design is even more up-to-date.

TOMORROW — SECOND DAY OF THE BAY'S BIG 2 - PANT SUIT SALE!

By ART STOTT

Husbands, it seems, are a little slow to catch on. Not that they don't learn soon enough to avoid talking about their own mothers' cooking in the presence of wives, but they keep calling the electric refrigerator the ice-box.

That's indelicate. It's something like describing the modern bathroom in a Chic Sales vernacular. No matter how ebulliently a husband may bounce into the house to look for a snack, let him ask: "What's in the ice-box" and his "fridge-owning" wife is going to look as pained as if she'd walked barefoot in the snow. In the modern kitchen aristocracy, one avoids the term.

JUST THE SAME, the ice-box has done and is doing a big job right in this town, where domestic amenities enjoy a high rating. Take it from Bill Wilson, the home delivery of ice is as big as it ever was and will keep on being good business for years to come. Last year wasn't a good one for comparison. The late spring curtailed sales. But from April to the end of September, Bill's plant turns out 50 tons a day.

Some of the old-timers have hazy recollections of pre-1900 ice use here. They reach back in memory to a storage shed they say was used by the Goodacres and Porters at Swan Lake. The ice—and it must have been 10 inches to a foot thick for storage—was cut at the lake in winter and stored in sawdust in a special building by the shore. Hard winters in those days.

THE WILSONS came into the picture in 1901 when Bill's father, Biggerstaff, leased the building just north of the E. & N. station from Dunsmuir interests. A picture in the firm's office shows the ice cart, a covered wagon drawn by two horses.

There wasn't any domestic delivery to speak of in those days. Nobody had ice-boxes. But the route used to cover a wide area out to the old Dallas and Colonist hotels, then around to John Virtue's Oak Bay Hotel and up to the Willows Hotel, that was later Cranleigh House School. Butcher shops were good customers, too, but the saloons accounted for most of the business. The ice went into the basement, around the barrels.

The ice-man still cometh to Victoria homes, but the electrical supply firms are moving into the kitchen to take up the space the old rocking chair might have occupied if kitchens hadn't changed so.

GIVEN TIME, high wages and no priorities, every household may have its own electrical refrigerator, but not for a while yet. And the demand for ice-making on a larger scale than cubes will hold up. The fish packers need it. Refrigeration cars require it. The business the late Biggerstaff Wilson moved to his new building on Herald Street in 1909 shows no signs of collapse. It employs about 30 people throughout the winter and doubles the staff in summer time.

The biggest change came in 1938 when the firm went into frozen foods, modestly at first. Now it handles 23 items and the list is growing.

Apart from the mechanical end, which keeps five engineers busy, there's a butcher shop, a ham and bacon curing and smoking plant, and a long equipment-filled room that puts the chill on vegetables and fruits for use when they're wanted, as well as the lockers.

IT'S AN EDUCATION, following a vegetable through the processes. I thought you picked green peas. You did when I was a kid, and the loss rate was high if the picker was hungry. Now they mow them with a machine. Then they're threshed and the vines go to the farmer for silage. The peas eventually come to the plant and roll through a long cylinder perforated with different sized holes. Each pea falls into a container according to size. Then they head for a modified steam bath—blanching. It's called.

That, I'm told, slows down the enzyme growth. If it didn't, peas would change flavor even while frozen. After that process they go into containers and are passed on racks through a freezing tunnel. The next step is the distributor.

It all looks neat and tidy and has an added appeal for Victoria because it's a local industry. Even the market is domestic, stretching north to Campbell River. That keeps dollars at home.

Find Cache Of Stolen Beer

Ivan Henry Townie, 33, 706 Craigflower Road, in Esquimalt police Court today, was charged with illegal possession of the beer stolen from Pacific Brewers Agents warehouse on Esquimalt Road. He was remanded to Monday without plea. Warehouse was entered during the New Year holiday week-end, police report.

Two Seek Reeveship; Five Running For Four Central Saanich Seats

Sydney Pickles and Percy E. Thorp will contest the reeveship of newly-formed Central Saanich Municipality on Jan. 13. William E. Poupore, returning officer, announced today when nominations closed at noon.

Only two candidates filed nominations for the office of reeve, he said.

Five candidates filed their nomination papers for election to the four-man council. Mr. Poupore said, which will necessitate an election for the four seats. They are Harold Andrew, Albert Doney, Lorne Thomson, Ray Lamont, and Willard W. Michell.

Voting will take place from 8 in the morning to 8 at night in polling stations at the Orange Hall, Saanichton; Brentwood Women's W.I. Hall, Brentwood, and South Saanich Institute Hall, Keating. Almost 1,000 residents are qualified to vote.

Formation of the new municipality culminates years of struggle as the urban and rural sections of Saanich diverged more widely over such matters as taxation and public services. The secession movement was begun by the late ex-councillor Larry C. Hagan, and brought to a successful conclusion last month with the forming of a new municipality of Central Saanich, comprising the whole area of what was formerly Ward Six, in Saanich.

Candidates are:

FOR REEVE

Sydney Pickles, whose farm is on Mount Newton Cross Road, is a native of Australia and a World War I pilot. Following the war he "barnstormed" in his own aircraft, and has been a resident of Victoria and Saanich for many years. He is president of Ward Six Ratepayers' Association, and until last December was a member of the Saanich Municipal Council. He has also been connected with the farmers' institute movement on Vancouver Island, and was the leading figure in the recent secession of Ward Six from Saanich.

Percy E. Thorp, who lives on Veynes Road, came to Saanich from Grand Prairie, Alta., and is now chairman of the District 63 School Board. He was second reeve of Bentley, Alta., in 1920, and from 1922 to 1936 he served on the school board for Oxford School District in Alberta. He was also chairman of the Bentley Hospital board for 12 years. Mr. Thorp served as alderman on the Grand Prairie City Council for two years and was then mayor of the city.

FOR THE COUNCIL

Ray M. Lamont of Lamont Road, near Telegraph Road, is a native son of Saanich, and was educated at Saanich schools and University School. Now 32 years of age and married, he raises turkeys and mink, being one of the few fur farmers in the area. He is a member of South Saanich Farmers' Institute, North and South Saanich Agricultural Society, Saanich Chamber of Commerce, and various trade organizations.

Albert Doney, a farmer who lives on Mount Newton Cross Road, was born in Cumberland and lived on Denman Island, south of Courtenay, from 1908 to 1921. He came to Saanich in 1931. At present Mr. Doney is first vice-president of the North and South Saanich Agricultural Society and a member of both the South Saanich Farmers' Institute and Central Saanich Ratepayers' Association. He is married and has three children.

Lorne Thomson a retired farmer who lives on West Saanich Road, was born in Cedar Hill and educated in Saanich. He has a grown family living in the vicinity of his home. Some of the positions he now holds include chairmanship of Brentwood Bay Parks Board, secretary-treasurer of South Vancouver Island Potato Growers' Association, and membership on the apportionment board dividing assets and liabilities of Saanich and Central Saanich, the Saanich Chamber of Commerce, Ward Six Ratepayers' Association, and South Saanich Farmers' Institute. He was also one of the first to suggest the name "Central Saanich" for the new municipality.

Harold Andrew, born and educated in England, is now 47 and has lived in Saanich for 25 years. During the war he was district A.R.P. warden for Ward Six, and is at present employed by the B.C. Electric as boiler operator at its Brentwood Bay power plant. He is a member of the Brentwood Community Association, and the Saanich Chamber of Commerce, and is well known here for raising budgerigars, or "budgie birds." He and his wife and seven-year-old daughter make their home at Brentwood Bay.

Willard W. Michell, 51, was born in Saanich, as were his parents, the late William G. Michell and Mrs. Michell. He was educated in Saanich schools and operates a farm on East Saanich Road. He is married and has two children. Mr. Michell is president of North and South Saanich Agricultural Association for his fourth term, president of South Saanich Farmers' Institute, vice-president of Island Farms Co-operative Dairy and a director of the Saanich Pioneers' Society.

'Compulsion' Issue Looms In Transferable Voting

Controversy is expected over the plan of the provincial government to introduce single transferable vote legislation at the coming session of the House.

It is understood Attorney-General Gordon Wismer does not intend to include in the legislation a "compulsion" clause making it compulsory that voters show a preference on the ballots when they go to vote.

Arguments are being presented in political circles, already that if this is the case, the legislation will be ineffective.

Some advocates of preferential voting claim die-hard members of the three major parties will refuse to give a preference, voting only for the candidate carrying their colors.

Then there would be no second or third choices from which an overall majority could be determined. Opponents to the plan are asking that ballots on which only one candidate is given a vote be classed as "spoiled" and thrown out.

On the other hand, government leaders are reluctant to compel a voter to mark his ballot more than once if he does not wish to do so. This would not be the democratic way they say.

Plan to introduce the single transferable vote legislation on the basis that it be proclaimed by the cabinet when the time is right. It would hardly be used until the Liberals and Conservatives agreed to go their separate ways, breaking Coalition.

World conditions being what they are, it is unlikely the split will come for several years.

Robert E. Cooper, 1870 Monteth Street, was remanded for judgment on a charge of careless driving. His car struck elderly Robert Osborne, Fairfield Hotel, at Cormorant and Douglas Streets Dec. 11, evidence showed.

Melvin Loverington, 232 Superior Street, was found guilty of uttering a threat against Roy E. Hills, same address, and was placed on bond in the sum of $200 to be of good behavior for six months. He blamed liquor for his trouble. Hills said accused threatened to kill him and his wife.

Walter Coles, 950 Queens Avenue, pleaded not guilty to a charge of careless driving. He was remanded for trial.

Melvin Loverington, 232 Superior Street, was found guilty of uttering a threat against Roy E. Hills, same address, and was placed on bond in the sum of $200 to be of good behavior for six months. He blamed liquor for his trouble. Hills said accused threatened to kill him and his wife.

Go-Ahead Signal On Pat Bay Road

Federal Government Sends Authority For First Phase

Authority to proceed with the first phase of the reconstruction of the highway between Victoria and Patricia Bay at a cost of $300,000 was received today by the provincial government from Ottawa.

The federal government is paying half the cost of the work which will cost over $500,000 and take two years to complete.

At the same time it was learned the province has no intention of abandoning construction of a new Victoria outlet to the Island Highway.

Works Minister E. C. Carson gave this assurance and said a start could be made immediately on the work if financial arrangements were complete.

The new outlet, which it is understood will follow Wilkison Road and cut through the Highlands District joining the present highway on the Victoria side of Goldstream, is expected to cost in the neighborhood of $1,500,000.

All of the right-of-way has not been acquired but Mr. Carson said there was enough to make a start.

He is holding details of the route until tenders are called.

IN NEXT FEW WEEKS

The same applies to the Patricia Bay job. Tenders for this will be called in the next few weeks.

Meanwhile crews will start clearing sections of the right-of-way and begin moving fences where curved and winding stretches of the road are to be eliminated.

Plan is to complete this year the section of the road from Douglas and North Quadra Streets, a half mile to the city side of Royal Oak junction, and a short distance from the Saanich Health Centre, to Telegraph Road which leads to Island View Beach.

It is understood the bottleneck at Royal Oak junction, where the East and West Saanich roads join, will be eliminated, the new road taking a route through the old Rithet farm and linking with the present road near Royal Oak Burial Park.

The federal government is paying half the cost of the work and the new highway will be built to Trans-Canada Highway specifications. This means there will be 24 feet of pavement and no sharp curves.

Mayor George Would Welcome Change In Act

Mayor Percy George today said he was open to any move that would bring in a resolution to save any municipality from the situation which confronted Victoria in the recent elections and at the same time give democratic rights to aspiring candidates.

He was commenting on word that various organizations in the city plan to meet and discuss the Municipal Elections Act, with particular reference to the property qualifications clause.

It was the latter which prevented former alderman-elect Roy Whittle from taking his seat on council.

The mayor said the U.B.C.M. had in the past few years threshed the matter over thoroughly but had not been able to provide a resolution which would aid aspiring candidates, protect the public and at the same time stand up in a court of law.

"Any discussion will clear the air," said Mayor George, who spoke of the pitfalls inherent in changing the property qualification clause.

Oak Bay Approves Plan To Build Curb

The section of Beach Drive opposite Oak Bay Boathouse is to get a curb, and the road's black-top surface widened to meet it.

Property owners, who were anxious to enter into a plan with Oak Bay to help alleviate the poor drainage conditions there, are prepared to pay the cost of the curb, with the municipality paying for road surfacing.

After collision at traffic light.

Charge Against Driver Follows Oak Bay Ave. Crash

When Dr. George W. Fletcher, 1207 Douglas Street, did not appear in city police court today to be charged with drunken driving, Magistrate H. C. Hall ordered his $500 bail estreated.

Police indicated they will probably proceed with the case by summons.

Charge against Dr. Fletcher followed a collision Wednesday night between cars driven by himself and Harry L. Samuel, 890 Darwin Road, at Oak Bay and Richmond Avenues.

Police classed the damage to the front of the doctor's car as medium. Officers said both cars were proceeding west on Oak Bay Avenue and that the doctor's vehicle struck the rear of the Samuel car after it had come to a stop for a traffic light.

Dr. Fletcher was taken to the police station and examined by Dr. E. L. McNiven for sobriety in regard to intoxication. Dr. McNiven considered Dr. Fletcher was not in a fit condition to drive at the time of examination, according to the police report.

Police said Dr. McNiven posted bail for Dr. Fletcher after he had been arrested on a charge of drunken driving.

Victoria war veterans who wish to build their own home will get instruction at two night courses sponsored by Veterans' Land Act officials, to be given at Victoria High School, beginning Jan. 15, at 7.30.

Classes will be held once a week for 16 weeks. Included in the syllabus will be all rudiments of home building.

MARY HAWORTH'S MAIL

Married Over 20 Years, Wife Asks How To Cope With Husband's Recent Irritability; Coincides With Son's Betrothal; Is He Envious?

Dear Mary Haworth: I have been married to Roger for more than 20 years. He is a wonderful man and we have gotten along really splendidly until recently. We've had our ups-and-downs, like everyone, but we have always worked together to solve our problems (until now), and have done very well.

We have a good home, a new car, in fact everything we need to make our life happy and content. However, in the last three months Roger has become a sorehead. He is dissatisfied with everything—the house, the television set, his food. He isn't sick, but he doesn't act natural. He complains to such an extent that he is actually a crybaby. I am at my wits' end.

There has been no change in our home or our habits that might account for his distemper, except that our 20-year-old son Bill has become engaged. Bill and his girl travel about with us quite often, and I think my husband is jealous of the boy's youth and happiness. I think he is looking for something, he doesn't know what, and is striking out irritably at everything—not knowing what ails him—because he begrudges his son the thrill that goes with being engaged, planning for the future, etc.

Do you think I have reached the right conclusion? If so, how can I make him realize that he has been through the experiences that Bill is just having; and that he cannot recover them no matter how he acts? I hope I have been able to explain what I mean; I am not too good at this sort of thing.—V. B.

VITAL RAPPORT HAS BEEN LOST

Dear V. B.: It occurs to me that Roger is upset by the spectacle of his son's delight in being engaged, principally because it suggests to him that something vital has been lost from his experience. Not youth, necessarily, but the spirit of intimacy with the beloved's personality that gives meaning to existence, and a soaring happiness in relationship that is independent of material possessions.

You say that your husband has been striking out at everything in a sorehead manner recently; then you list the house, the television set, his food, as items of complaint. This is a significant list, in that it means he is shooting at you essentially. All grips centre in your domain. What he is saying, symbolically, is that you don't please him; you have failed him somehow, he feels reminded, since he's been observing Bill's camaraderie with his girl.

WIFE'S PERFORMANCE SHOULD BE REVISED

Labouring the obvious to Roger, by earnestly emphasizing that he cannot be 20 again, planning a life with his sweetheart, probably wouldn't lighten his latterday gloom. However, by administering insight in a humorous tone, when opportunity presents in privacy, you might bring him around gradually. The next time he gripes when no eavesdroppers are near, say to him with brave smiling sweetness, "Would you like to know what I think anyone you really? I've been giving the matter a lot of study. You're disappointed in me—oh, maybe with lots of reason. And seeing Bill so happy with Susie has been making you intensely aware of it. But don't you remember, we were even happier, at their age, in their shoes?..." etc.

I grant he is likely to explode defensively, to cover surprise and embarrassment at being "analyzed." And he'll probably call you crazy for having such ideas. He may refuse to listen. But don't be daunted; and don't hammer the point further for the time being. Keep a light touch, but offer the same or a similar rejoinder whenever he complains unfairly. In addition, practice intelligent self-awareness—to get the pitch of your customary performance in teamwork with him. Try to see yourself through his eyes, and hear yourself through his ears, and I think you'll discover that a great overhauling is needed, to re-constitute yourself a refreshing sweetheart-wife.

P.S.: Push Roger into a medical check-up if possible. His trouble may be organic as well as emotional.—M. H.

YOUR BABY AND MINE

By MYRTLE MEYER ELDRED

One of the hard roles a mother-in-law must play is the hands-off one. Very often she sees things done in her own daughter's or daughter-in-law's home which she would not have done in her own. She must tell herself that she had her chance and did her best. Now, the problems which arise, or the situations which exist must be handled by the best judgment of the two young parents. She may express her opinion and as forcefully as she is able, but she must not make them feel that they must live up to it or win her hostility.

Here is a problem about which there will be many different opinions. Mrs. E. J. writes, "My son-in-law is in the habit of having beer with his meals and in-between meals. They do not think it is wrong to give sips of beer to their children under five years of age. They claim that if they have tastes of it, now, they will become accustomed to it and won't over-indulge later.

"I have always been intolerant of the use of liquor and I would like your opinion about this."

In reality this is about the way it seems to work in countries which, because of their poor water supplies, tend to drink beer or wine with their meals. It does not seem that among such people there is any more alcoholism than among families which have never been used to liquor.

The responsibility of drinking alcoholic liquors is one which adults will have to determine for themselves. No one can decide it for them. But it is not a privilege to be accorded children. When they are fully grown they will, in turn, decide this question for themselves. While they are young their parents should protect them from such indulgence, as they would protect them from any other menace to their moral health.

Our leaflet No. 48, "Physical Handicaps of the School Child," may be had by sending a stamped, self-addressed envelope with your request to Myrtle Meyer Eldred in care of this newspaper.

Down Comes The Tree Away Go The Presents!

By PENNY SAVER

The family took the Christmas tree down last night. This, to me, is one of the most painful duties in this pleasant life of mine. Mind you, I could see mother's point of view. The needles were beginning to drop from the tree and were cluttering up the good woman's work. Even our pussy cat, Cleo, was beginning to resemble a porcupine every time she rolled anywhere near the tree. Certainly miss the forest aroma around our living room!

Once operation Christmas tree was over, presents and gifts were sorted . . . father got his size 12 socks mixed with my little 10-new atomizer with an equally new bottle of perfume. Why I didn't quit while I was still winning I'll never know!

With atomizer in one hand and full bottle of perfume in the other, I went at the two of them, tooth and nail. Oh, yes! There was perfume clear up to my elbows, all over the wash basin where I was working, and we'll be lucky if the main floor of the house is fit to live in for the next few days. Someone remarked as they passed the messy scene, that there must be an easier way!

This morning, my pets, I found the easier way! There actually is a funnel for perfume bottles! The little funnels . . . about an inch and a half high . . . are made of sterling silver and complete with stand, they

Fresh pear, cottage cheese, toasted almonds, cubes of cranberry jelly make a good luncheon salad and a-halfers . . . and life returned to a normal pulse.

Don't know how many pairs of stockings you were presented with this Yuletide, but I was fortunate enough to receive the sheerest beauties I've ever owned. Where to put these delicate bits of clouds was the next consideration. Wish I'd had one of those hosiery holders . . . they're only 59 pennies . . . with the six pockets in the plastic case. There is a quilted plastic case too, six envelopes entailed within, at $1.59. All satin and lace is this three-pocketed case for $1.79.

After I'd finished the necessary putting away, I got the bright idea I'd like to fill my sell for $4. There used to be a glass type for a dollar or $1.50. They're not available now, but should they come into town, I'll inform anyone who is interested. While I was in the store I noticed a little powder scoop, a miniature shovel affair, sterling silver and a $1.50 buy.

Might, while I'm still close enough to the subject of milady's boudoir, mention the three-piece boudoir and travel ensemble. The set includes cases for gloves, handkerchiefs, hosiery . . . and a small piece of lingerie if necessary. Price tag says $1.79.

Couple Travel To New York On Honeymoon, To Make Home

Travelling east by train to Ithaca, N.Y., where they will make their home are Mr. and Mrs. Keith Bernard Olson who repeated nuptial vows before Canon George Biddle at St. John's Church.

The bride is the former Jean Catherine McIver, elder daughter of Mrs. A. Nysvee, 3451 Cook Street, and the late Mr. C. C. W. McIver. The groom, a graduate in commerce from University of British Columbia and affiliated with Phi Delta Theta Fraternity, will complete a year's post-graduate work at Cornell University. He is the elder son of Mr. and Mrs. H. B. Olson, 1101 Beach Drive.

A bridal gown of imported French lace and white satin designed with scalloped neckline, long, slim sleeves that ended in points over her hands, and a very full skirt, was chosen by the bride. To complement her wedding dress, she wore a finger-tip veil of illusion net that misted from a satin coronet in her fair hair and carried a cascade bouquet of carnations. She was given in marriage by her stepfather, A. Nysvee.

Trio of attendants wore gowns of American Beauty rose velvet fashioned with portrait necklines, slim bodices, long, pointed sleeves and scalloped waists.

The VANITY

1306 Douglas Street

Margie Lou sensed the presence of someone behind her and turned a tearful face to meet the grinning, triumphant leer of the only man in the world she really feared and hated.

"Help, Eddie!" she cried.

"You don't need any help, Baby," Max assured her. "I'm here. And a nice bit of luck it is finding you driving this old crate. It'll be swell having you along."

"Along where?"

"Wherever I go, Baby. Turn at the next crossroads and head for Indiana. We'll go there on our honeymoon."

They neared the intersection and Margie Lou did not slow down.

"I said, 'Turn here!'" Max reminded her as he grabbed her roughly by the collar of her uniform coat. The cloth tore away but he swung her out of her seat against the folding entrance door.

Eddie looked on in helpless rage.

Max, now in the driver's seat himself, turned the corner on two wheels, it seemed. "Indiana, here we come!" he shouted triumphantly. "Me and my gal. A good joke on my wife."

Margie Lou was starting to get uncertainly to her feet. She put her hand to her neck. "The coin!" she said in dismay. "Eddie, our lucky charm is gone. The string broke."

Eddie was kneeling on the floor beside her. "Here it is."

She couldn't hear him but she found it herself and holding it in her hand she managed to rise to a standing position.

CRY FOR HELP

"Oh, Eddie," Margie Lou cried miserably, "what'll I do?"

"Stop sayin' Eddie all the time. Duffy ain't here and neither is Eddie. But Max is—good old Max." He took one hand from the wheel, found a loose cigarette in his coat pocket and flipped it expertly into his mouth. He held out a book of paper matches to the girl.

"Light it for me, Baby. I can't take both hands off the wheel."

The squad eyed proceedings with tightened interest.

"Hang on, guys," warned Jake. "There's enough loose gas in the air to blow up a battleship. Maybe this is what we're waitin' for."

Margie Lou started to take the matches. Max noticed the coin in her hand. "What's that?"

She replied automatically, "It's my lucky coin."

Max laughed. "Let's see it." He tried to take it. Margie Lou struggled to keep it. The cigarette got knocked out of Max's mouth and she dropped the matches.

"No dice," muttered Jake, disappointed.

Max finally got the coin away from Margie Lou and held it in his own hand. "You don't need this any more. Your good luck is you met me."

Margie Lou was sobbing. "Now I can't see you, Eddie—not even these last few minutes."

"Give that back to her!" Eddie ordered grimly.

Max heard him but a difficult stretch of road ahead prevented him from turning around. He was startled, though. "Who are you?"

"I'm Eddie and I said, 'Give that back to her!'" You heard me."

"Holy crapes!" exclaimed Jake. "Look at Eddie. Half his face is shot away and his insides are—"

"Shut up," warned Joe. "That's the way Eddie wants Max to see him."

"Eddie, huh?" said Max. "No room here for you with me and her. I'll stop the bus and throw you out on your ear."

Max turned his head to size up the job.

DAWN TORN APART

His shrill scream lasted for all of the few seconds it took for the bus to run off the road and turn over with a ripping explosion that tore the dawn apart.

That was all.

It happened not far from a State Police Headquarters station. When the troopers got there with first-aid equipment they managed to drag Max out of the smoking wreck.

"He's the only one that's alive," said the senior officer, "but judging from the way he looks he's going to wish he wasn't."

The infantry squad was standing by anxiously watching proceedings.

"Where's Eddie?" asked Jake. "Nothing's happened to Eddie." Joe assured him. "He's waiting for Margie Lou. Sometimes it takes a little while."

Sure enough, after a few moments, Eddie came out of the twisted, smouldering coach. He was carrying Margie Lou. Duke followed with briskly wagging tail.

Before he joined the others Eddie held Margie Lou close for a long moment with his lips against her trembling mouth.

When he put her on her feet she was clinging to his hand and looking at him with wonder and dawning happiness.

FIRST TIME

"Why, Eddie, that's the first time you kissed me. That must mean that I am—"

"You are, Margie Lou."

The sun was rising. Somewhere, away off, there was a bugle.

Postal Bill Made Gift Expensive

Mrs. R. Stofor, 248 Douglas Street, wishes that she had known a little more about British postal regulations before sending a Christmas parcel to a friend living in Crowfield, Sussex, England.

As she did not know the street number or her friend, Mrs. Stofor addressed the parcel in care of the Post Office at Crowfield.

British postal officials located the person but they didn't deliver the parcel.

They sent a note instead informing the recipient that people were not allowed to address letters or parcels in care of the Post Office unless a license to do so was acquired.

The note added that if the recipient wanted the parcel she would have to pay £3 2s.

RAILWAY VETERANS' SOCIAL

Canadian National Railway Veterans' Association will hold a social afternoon for members, their wives and visitors in the Knights of Pythias Hall Friday at 2.

"That's reveille," said Eddie, "for us."

Later in the day when a wrecking crew was clearing away the debris one of the men found amidst the ashes a brass coin with a square hole in it.

"What's this thing?" he asked idly.

"Think money," another explained. "Some folks carry it for good luck."

"Oh! All I've got to say is this one didn't bring any luck to anybody when this hunk of junk blew up."

For we who live are blind and do not know.

The End.

Burgess Bedtime Story

By THORNTON W. BURGESS

Tongues their mission best fulfill
Often when they're keeping still.
—Old Mother Nature.

Chatterer the Red Squirrel

dearly loves the sound of his own voice. As with most people who like to hear themselves he is noisy and his tongue is often unruly. He delights in scolding and making fun of his neighbors. Because of this he is not liked. Nothing delights him more than spoiling the hunting of any hunter he may find in the green forest. Just now it was Reddy Fox.

"Fox! Fox!" he shrieked at the top of his voice. In the stillness of the green forest his voice carried far. It was a warning to everyone within hearing that Reddy was out looking for a dinner. And Chatterer was boasting. He dearly loves to boast. Most folks who talk too much and too loud are given to boasting, and boasting is a bad habit. It loses friends and makes enemies. He boasted that he wasn't afraid of anyone on four feet because in a tree no one could catch him. He was daring Reddy Fox by coming down a tree almost to the ground—and teasing Reddy to try to catch him.

TOO CLEVER FOR THAT

Reddy didn't try. He was too smart for that. He just sat down and grinned at Chatterer. It was a most provoking grin. "You are too noisy for your own good," said he. "You boast too much. A wise squirrel knows when to hold his tongue, but not you. One of these days you will be sorry. Then it will be too late." He grinned more broadly than ever as if he knew something that Chatterer didn't know.

"Who will make me sorry?" cried Chatterer. "No one can catch me in a tree. You can't scare me. And you can't catch me either." Once more he began shrieking "Fox! Fox!" at the top of his voice.

"It is very still here in the green forest when your tongue is still," said Reddy.

"What of it?" demanded Chatterer.

"You can be heard for a long distance," replied Reddy.

Now Chatterer grinned. "I want to be. The farther I am heard the more folks will be warned that you are here," retorted he. "You won't get a dinner in this neighborhood," he added.

"Someone else may," said Reddy. His grin was most provoking.

"What do you mean someone else may?" demanded Chatterer.

"Somebody you wouldn't like to have hear you," replied Reddy. His grin was more provoking than ever.

Reddy shook his head. "Foolish. Very foolish. That is it if what I heard is true," said he.

STOPS SHRIEKING

Chatterer stopped shrieking. "What did you hear?" he demanded.

"Of course it may have been just a rumor," said Reddy.

"What did you hear?" repeated Chatterer.

"And rumors are not always to be believed," said Reddy. "Rumors are more often wrong than right. I never believe rumors. What did you hear?" cried Chatterer.

"Nothing of special interest to me. When I heard it I thought of you, but it may not interest you either," replied Reddy.

"What was it?" shrieked Chatterer, losing his temper.

Reddy grinned again as if enjoying what he was about to say. "It was that a friend of yours has been seen at the foot of the great mountain and may even now be in the green forest," said he.

"What friend of mine?" persisted Chatterer.

"Fox! Fox!" he screamed at the top of his voice.

"Spite the Marten," replied Reddy.

Chatterer's eyes seemed to bulge out. He seemed to have lost the use of his tongue. The sudden silence was complete. For a few minutes Chatterer couldn't even whisper.

JACOBY ON BRIDGE

By OSWALD JACOBY

"Please answer a question about a very lucky hand," asks a Milwaukee correspondent. "We are wondering just how lucky the player was on this hand."

"East played the queen of clubs on his partner's opening lead of the kind. West obediently continued with a low club, and dummy ruffed with the three of diamonds."

"South decided that if West had passed with the ace and king of clubs, he could not have much else. Moreover, East's anxiety to shorten dummy's trumps was an additional indication of the location of the queen of diamonds. Therefore declarer cashed the king of diamonds and led the jack of diamonds for a finesse."

"South's troubles were not yet over. He still had a club to get rid of. He entered his hand with a heart to draw the last trump discarding a low spade from dummy. Then he led the 10 of spades to the ace and ruffed a spade. He entered dummy with a heart to ruff another spade with his last trump. Since the king and queen of spades dropped during this process, the dummy was now established."

"What we would like to know is this: Are the chances ordinarily so favorable to set up the jack of spades for the 12th trick—or do you call this South just plain lucky?"

The chances are not ordinarily so favorable. The jack of spades will become established only if one opponent has the blank king-queen of spades or the king-queen with one small spade. This will happen just slightly more than 10 per cent of the time. The odds, to put it another way, are about 9 to 1 against such a fortunate break in spades.

I would not, however, say that this particular South player was just plain lucky. He bid his hand properly and played it for all it was worth. Angels can do no more.

If I were pressed, I would say that North was the lucky player. He overbid his hand and then was lucky enough to have a partner good enough to make the most of the partnership assets.

If North was so determined to bid a slam, he should have bid it in hearts. That slam would be made with a successful diamond finesse, even if the spades didn't become established!

For example, suppose a trump is led against a contract of six hearts (as good a lead as any). South wins with the ace cashes the ace of spades and ruffs a spade in the South hand. North wins the next trick with the king of diamonds and ruffs another spade in the South hand. (We will assume that this does not set up the rest of the spades.)

South now leads his last heart to North, and North leads a third heart to draw the last trump. South can discard a club on this trick (having used up two of his trumps ruffing spades). The diamond is then finessed, and South runs the rest of the diamond suit, discarding two of North's three losing cards in the black suits. And that would be that.

Eire Theatres, Restaurants Act As Bankers While 4,000 Clerks On Strike

DUBLIN (Reuter)—Theatres and restaurants all over the Republic of Ireland have become unofficial banks to keep the business and social life of the country moving during a strike of bank employees.

"Please tender exact amounts in payment," the acting bankers announce outside their premises, and they arrange that all small change they collect is passed back into general circulation as quickly as possible.

Because of this—and because Christmas shopping put record sums of money into circulation—the country's 750,000 workers received their full wages last week. Most employers are confident they can repeat that achievement next Friday.

The banks have not opened since Christmas because the 4,000 employees want higher pay and cost-of-living bonuses.

Bank employees here have traditionally regarded themselves as among the most genteel members of society.

Therefore they do not picket the banks in a regular way. But, at evening, there are always strikers strolling about near the back doors of the banks, for non-striking senior officials of some banks have passed out funds to businessmen through the back doors. If the strikers see any attempt to repeat that, they have a polite word with the callers.

WOULD TEACH BOYS TO COOK

LONDON (Reuter)—Principal John Bell Wednesday put forward some new ideas on high school education for boys. "Every boy should learn how to cook, darn socks and sew on buttons," he told a teachers' conference here. "They might also even learn to cut hair because it's going to be expensive in the future to get one's hair cut."

BELLA COOLA, B.C. (CP)—Except for a scratched nose, the four-year-old daughter of Frank Pennicott escaped unhurt when a two-foot thick log, 40 feet long, rolled over her.

The girl was playing on the beach near her home here and when walking on some logs thrown up by a high tide, one began to roll. She fell into the path of the moving timber. A depression in the beach prevented it from crushing her.

DO YOU KNOW THESE SIGNS OF WASTEFUL TIRE WEAR???

(a) Excessive wear in centre of tread, caused by over-inflation.

(b) Scalloped appearance, caused by tire being out of balance (and possible faulty brakes).

(c) Feathered edges, caused by faulty alignment of wheels.

These conditions mean wasteful tire wear and can lead to blow-outs and defective steering.

We recommend a check on wheel alignment and tire balance every 5,000 miles, and we have the precision equipment to do it right.

SO TAKE A LOOK AT YOUR TIRES TODAY!!

Just phone or call for an appointment.

M.S. Aorangi—makes final call.

Final Trip Of Aorangi Ends Long Shipping Era

By JIM McKEACHIE
An era came to an end today as the last trans-Pacific liner linking Canada with the Antipodes docked here on her final call.

And when the Canadian-Australasian Line's M. Aorangi pulls away from V.M.D.'s outer wharf early this evening, waterfront pioneers will recall the days when many ships from the Orient and from "down under" called here regularly.

Picturesque names like the Niagara—which ran in conjunction with the Aorangi—Awatea, Zealandia, Moana and Makura will be remembered.

So will the big white-hulled "Empress" liners which ran to the Orient—the Empress of Asia, Russia, Australia, Canada and Japan, and before that the old yacht-like Empress of India, China and Japan. The Montague was another regular caller.

FUTURE UNCERTAIN
Future of the Aorangi is uncertain. But she will not continue the post-war trans-Pacific service she resumed in the fall of 1948 after being converted from her wartime troop-carrying function.

High operating costs and lack of business are the reasons given by her owners for discontinuing

Traffic Mishaps In Province Drop More Injured

There were fewer traffic accidents in the first nine months of last year than in the corresponding period of 1949, and there was a drop in the number of traffic fatalities, but more people suffered injuries.

This is reported in statistics released today by the Motor Vehicle Licensing Office here.

There were 12,563 accidents up to the end of September of 1949 and 11,832 in the same period of 1950; 109 deaths in 1949 compared to 94 last year; but 3,343 injuries compared to 3,525.

The number of accidents in which there were personal injuries jumped from 2,160 to 2,487, and property damage in accidents jumped by $238,539 from $2,409,836 to $2,648,375. There were more cars on the roads.

Fight For Return Of Price Controls

The Victoria and District Trades and Labor Council has decided to get behind a nationwide campaign by Canada's four main labor organizations for re-imposition of price and rent controls.

The campaign is to be waged by postcards, petitions and public meetings.

The council appointed the following committee to head the campaign in Victoria: A. P. Raymond, J. Quissey, J. Martin, H. Thayer, C. McIlwride, T. Gooderham, H. Klunck and A. E. L. Reynolds.

Minister Visits Fisheries Patrol

Crews of the three fisheries patrol vessels which operate out of this port received a visit from their chief this week.

Fisheries Minister R. W. Mayhew, accompanied by local fisheries inspector Gordon Barrie, chatted with the men of the Howay, Laurier and Kitimat which were berthed at the Department of Transport wharf on Wharf Street.

The vessels left shortly after on routine patrol jobs after being tied up over the New Year's holiday.

SECOND COSTS FATHER $600

PROVIDENCE, R.I. (AP)—The Dimeos have lost a $600 question by a nose, if the stork possesses one.

A ruling by the attending physician, Dr. Palmiro Dippio, that Stephen Paul Dimeo was Rhode Island's first 1951 baby, by a one-second margin, has cost papa Joseph Dimeo a $600 exemption on his 1950 income tax.

Leave Requested For Army Reserve

Co-operation of civic departments in granting leaves of absence to officers and men of the reserve army who wish to take courses and training, was requested by Mayor Percy George today by Brig. W. J. McGill, commander of the B.C. Area at Vancouver.

He stated the tempo in training of the army was rapidly increasing to meet growing demands, with more and newer courses offered.

Latest figures released by the Minister of Labor in Ottawa covered the period ending Nov. 30, and showed a total of 2,570 persons registered for work in the Victoria area.
